Preface
Endogenous Opioid Peptides p. 1
‘Prolegomenon’ to Opioid Peptides and Immunity: Is There a Role in Autoimmunity? p. 5
Proopiomelanocortin Gene Expression in Cells of the Immune System p. 15
Chromatographic Characterization of Opioid Peptides in Cells of the Immune System p. 29
Opioid Peptides and Their Effect on the Immune Response p. 47
Pharmacological Modulation of Neuropeptides in Peripheral Blood Mononuclear Cells p. 57
Opiate Receptors in the Neuroregulation of Prolactin, Growth Hormone and Thyroid Stimulating Hormone Secretion p. 73
[delta]-Opioid Receptor Involvement in Endocrine Pathophysiology p. 89
Clinical Perspectives in Opioid Peptides in Gynaecological Endocrinology p. 111
Endogenous Opioid Regulation of Luteinizing Hormone Secretion in Women p. 117
Opioid Peptides in the Ovary: A Molecular Biological Study p. 145
Opioid Peptides in Male Reproductive Tissues p. 155
Effects of Central Opioid Peptides on Gonadotrophin Secretion at Puberty p. 175
Proopiomelanocortin Peptides and Reproduction: An Integrated Endocrine and Behavioural System p. 185
Opioids and the Hypothalamo-pituitary-adrenal Axis p. 219
Endogenous Opioid Peptides and Thyroid Function p. 233
Opioid Peptides and Carbohydrate Metabolism p. 255
Opioid Peptides in the Control of Eating Behaviour p. 275
Obesity, Diabetes Mellitus and Opioid Peptides p. 295
Opioids and Cognitive Function: Relevance to Neuropsychiatric Illnesses p. 323
Endogenous Opioids in Mental Disorders p. 343
Opioid Peptides and the Sympathoadrenal System: A Brief Survey p. 361
Endogenous Opioids and Acute Pain: Experimental and Clinical Studies p. 369
Myocardial Function and Endogenous Opioids p. 393
Concluding Remarks p. 407
Index p. 415
