Introduction: The history of the family

Some demographic determinants of average household size: An analytic approach

The evolution of the family

Mean household size in England since the sixteenth century

Mean household size in England from printed sources

A note on the household structure of mid-nineteenth-century York in comparative perspective

Household structure and the industrial revolution

mid-nineteenth-century Preston in comparative perspective

A southern French village: the inhabitants of Montplaisant in 1644

Size and structure of households in a northern French village between 1836 and 1861

Household and family in Tuscany in 1427

Structure of household and family in Corsica, 1769-71

Variations in the size and structure of the household in the United Provinces of the Netherlands in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries

Size of households before the industrial revolution: the case of Liege in 1801

The zadruga as process

Houseful and household in an eighteenth-century Balkan city. A tabular analysis of the listing of the Serbian sector of Belgrade in 1733-4

Town and countryside in Serbia in the nineteenth century, social and household structure as reflected in the census of 1863

Small families, small households, and residential instability: town and city in 'pre-modern'

Size of household in a Japanese county throughout the Tokugawa era

An interpretation of the size and structure of the household in Japan over three centuries

The average size of families and households in the Province of Massachusetts in 1764 and in the United States in 1790: an overview

Demography and psychology in the historical study of family-life: a personal report

Rhode Island family structure: 1875 and 1960

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.