Preface
History And Definition
Definitional issues in child maltreatment
Physical child abuse in America: past, present, and future
Pediatrics and child abuse
Sexual abuse of children: causes and consequences
The intergenerational transmission of child abuse
Parental And Contextual Influences On Maltreatment
Lessons from child abuse: the determinants of parenting
The antecedents of maltreatment: results of the Mother-Child Interaction Research Project
Parental attributions as moderators of affective communication to children at risk for physical abuse
Perceived similarities and disagreements about childrearing practices in abusive and nonabusive families
Cognitive foundations for parental care
Intergenerational continuities and discontinuities in serious parenting difficulties
The construct of empathy and the phenomenon of physical maltreatment of children
The Developmental Consequences Of Child Maltreatment
How research on child maltreatment has informed the study of child development: perspectives from developmental psychopathology
Patterns of maternal behaviour among infants at risk for abuse: relations with infant attachment behaviour and infant development at 12 months of age
Finding order in disorganization: lessons from research on maltreated infants’ attachments to their caregivers
Peer relations in maltreated children
The effects of maltreatment on development during early childhood: recent studies and their theoretical, clinical and policy implications
Social cognition in maltreated children
The effects of maltreatment on the development of young children
Troubled youth, troubled families: the dynamics of adolescent maltreatment
Child abuse, delinquency, and violent criminality
The prevention of maltreatment
Name index
Subject index
Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.