The human genome project: research tactics and economic strategies
Choosing who will be disabled: genetic intervention and the morality of inclusion

Germ-line genetic engineering and moral diversity: moral controversies in a post-Christian world
Self-critical federal science? The ethics experiment within the US human genome project
When politics drives science: Lysenko, Gore and US biotechnology policy
Biotechnology and the utilitarian argument for patents
Property rights theory and the commons: the case of scientific research
Property rights and technological innovation
Medicine, animal experimentation and the moral problem of unfortunate humans
A world of strong privacy: promises and perils of encryption
Computer reliability and public policy: limits of knowledge of computer-based systems
Responsibility and decision making in the era of neural networks
Preposterism and its consequences

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.