Preface and Acknowledgements

Abortion

The Problem of Abortion Today
The Basic Argument and Some Responses
Sentience: A Bad Argument Against Abortion
A Return to the Basic Argument
Objection from Brain Activity
Objection from Sorites Paradoxes
Objection from Begging the Question
Objection from Sperm and Egg
Objection from Fission and Totipotency
Objection from Cloning and Parthenogenesis

A Feminist Argument for Abortion
The Foetus, the Person and the Person

Abortion, the Law and the Public Good - a Concluding Note

'I Personally Disapprove of Abortion But Would Not Impose my Opinion on Other People

"It is Not the Business of the Law to Interfere with Such a Difficult Decision

'The 'Backstreet' Objection

Conclusion

Euthanasia

Introduction

Varieties of Euthanasia
Voluntary Euthanasia and Autonomy
Non-Voluntary Euthanasia and 'Quality of Life'
Active and Passive Euthanasia
Ordinary and Extraordinary Means
Euthanasia, Death and 'Brain Death'

Euthanasia and Nazism

Animals
The Problem
The Conditions for Rights - What They Are Not

Consciousness
Beliefs and Desires
Language. Self-Consciousness
Action in Pursuit of Desires and Goals
The Conditions for Rights - What They Are
Knowledge of Purpose

Free Will
Two Dilemmas for the View that Animals Have Rights

So How Should we Treat Animals?
Capital Punishment