Every tub on its own bottom: funding a Jesuit college in early modern Europe p. 5

The Jesuits and the art of translation in early modern Europe p. 24

Join the Jesuits, see the world: early modern women in Spain and the society of Jesus p. 33

Between history and myth: the Monita secreta Societatis Jesu p. 50

Revolutionary pedagogues?: how Jesuits used education to change society p. 66

The Jesuit garden p. 86

Jesuit uses of art in the province of Flanders p. 113

Meditation, ministry, and visual rhetoric in Peter Paul Rubens's program for the Jesuit Church in Antwerp p. 157

Art in the service of God: the impact of the society of Jesus on the decorative arts in Portugal p. 182

Cultural convergence at the ends of the Earth: the unique art and architecture of the Jesuit missions to the Chiloe archipelago (1608-1767) p. 211

The rural churches of the Jesuit Haciendas on the Southern Peruvian coast p. 240

Suzhou prints and western perspective: the painting techniques of Jesuit artists at the Qing court, and dissemination of the contemporary court style of painting to mid-eighteenth-century Chinese society through woodblock prints p. 262

Picturing Jesuit anti-Copernican consensus: astronomy and biblical exegesis in the engraved title-page of Clavius's Opera mathematica (1612) p. 291

Jesuit influences on Galileo's science p. 314

Utility, edification, and superstition: Jesuit censorship and Athanasius Kircher's Oedipus Aegyptiacus p. 336

Teaching mathematics in Jesuit schools: programs, course content, and classroom practices p. 355

Entering dangerous ground: Jesuits teaching astrology and chiromancy in Lisbon p. 371

Science and enlightenment in eighteenth-century Spain: the contribution of the Jesuits before and after the expulsion p. 390

The reception of a theory: a provisional syllabus of Boscovich literature, 1746-1800 p. 405

'A certain indulgence': music at the Jesuit College in Paris, 1575-1590 p. 454

Between stage and divine service: Jesuits and theatrical music p. 479

Sung catechism and college opera: two musical genres in the Jesuit evangelization of colonial Chile p. 498

The orator's performance: gesture, word, and image in theatre at the Collegio Romano p. 512

The Jesuit stage and theatre in Milan during the eighteenth century p. 530

'Lascivi Spettacoli': Jesuits and theatre (from the underside) p. 550

Grammar and virtue: the formulation of a cultural and missionary program by the Jesuits in early colonial Peru p. 576

The problematic acquisition of indigenous languages: practices and contentions in missionary specialization in the Jesuit province of Peru (1568-1640) p. 602

The uses of shamanism: evangelizing strategies and missionary models in seventeenth-century Brazil p. 616

Jesuits, too: Jesuits, women catechists, and Jezebels in Christian-century Japan p. 638
Clockwork and the Jesuit mission in China  p. 658
Between the rigorist hammer and the deist anvil : the fate of the Jesuits in eighteenth-century France  p. 682
The expulsion of the Jesuits and the treatment of Catholic representational objects during the French revolution  p. 691
The gang of four and the campaign against the Jesuits in eighteenth-century Brazil  p. 707
Twilight in the imperial city : the Jesuit mission in China, 1748-60  p. 725
Boscovich in the Balkans : a Jesuit perspective on orthodox Christianity in the age of enlightenment  p. 738
A Jesuit Beata at the time of the suppression in the viceroyalty of Rio de la Plata : Maria Antonia de Paz y Figueroa, 1730-1799  p. 758
The post-suppression society of Jesus in the United States and Russia : two unlikely settings  p. 772
Jesuit opera in seventeenth-century Vienna : Patientis Christi memoria by Johann Bernhard Staudt (1654-1712)  p. 787
Patientis Christi memoria : text  p. 793
Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.