Foreword

Doing Ethnography
In Search of Meaning
Using Qualitative Methods in Research and Application

Mirror, Mission, and Management
Reflections on Folklore and Culture in a Health Care Organization

Complaints in Paradise
Using Ethnography in Customer Relations

Measuring Organizational Culture
Mixing Qualitative and Quantitative Methods

Functions of the "Dysfunctional"
The Paradox of Functional Dysfunction in a Girl Scout Camp

Implications of Cultural Diversity for Achieving Organizational Goals
Letting Off Steam? Redefining a Restaurant's Work Environment

'Deviant Behavior'

Achieving Autonomy in a Machine-Paced Environment
The Communication of Power Relations in Organizations Through Cultural Rites

The Arts of Organizing
The Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee

Developing Organizational Culture in the Short Run

'No Tickee, No Shirtee'
Proverbial Speech and Leadership in Academe

New Frames for Old
Changing the Managerial Culture of an Aircraft Factory

Symbolic Responses to Layoffs in a Software Manufacturing Firm
Managing the Meaning of an Event

Creating, Preserving, and Communicating Traditions

A Role for Retirees of a Dance Company
Creativity, Commitment, and Community

Art at Work
The Pursuit of Aesthetic Solutions

Work Ceremonies
Why Integrate Work and Play?

Resolving Conflict and Establishing Community
The Annual Festival 'Old People's Day'

Dealing with Organizational Stress
Lessons from the Folklore of Mormon Missionaries

Symbolic Representation of Organizational Identity
The Role of 'Emblem' at Garrett Corporation

Paradigms and Paradoxes
Organizational Festivals and the Uses of Ambiguity