Introduction

Ritual behavior and community change: exploring the social-psychological roles of net rituals in the developmental processes of online consumption communities p. 7

Published word of mouth: referable, consumer-generated information on the Internet p. 35

Understanding pass-along emails: motivations and behaviors of viral consumers p. 63

What, and how, we can learn from online consumer discussion groups p. 101

How banner ads affect brand choice without click-through p. 125

Factors affecting click-through rate p. 143

Exploring consumer response to "advergaming" p. 167

Going mobile: marketing and advertising on wireless networks around the world p. 195

Online product customization: factors investigating the product and process p. 207

Marketing to individual consumers online: the influence of perceived control p. 225

Smother surfing across cultures: bilinguals on the Web p. 245

Processes of preference construction in agent-assisted online shopping p. 265

Effects of visual consistency on site identity and product attitude p. 287

Gendered information processing: implication for Web site design p. 303

The effect of site design and interattribute correlations on interactive Web-based decisions p. 325

Is the Internet empowering consumers to make better decisions, or strengthening marketers' potential to persuade? p. 345

Rationality unbounded: the Internet and its effect on consumer decision making p. 361

Consumer relationships with an e-brand: implications for e-brand extensions p. 379

Finding the best ways to combine online and offline shopping features p. 401

Consumer behavior in online auctions: an exploratory study p. 419

The impact of Internet use on health cognitions and health behavior p. 433

Experiential ecommerce: a summary of research investigating the impact of virtual experience on consumer learning p. 457

Web-based consumer research p. 491

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.