Foreword
Prologue
Acknowledgments
Introduction: Confronting the Myths: Can America Halt the Slide Toward Health Care Meltdown?
Our Poor Performance and Perverse Incentives
The Search for a Comprehensive Solution
Getting America Clued In
"One Risk Pool"/ National Health Insurance
The Problem A Wasteful, Dysfunctional System and a Nation Kept Clueless
Myths, Misinformation, and the Pursuit of Profit
A Myriad of Myths
Everybody Has Access to Care Through the Emergency Room
We Don't Need to Fix What's Not Broken
"The Market" Is the Solution
Private Is Always Better than Public
Medicare Is Going Broke
We Can't Afford Universal Coverage
Americans Don't Want Rationing of Health Care
We Don't Want Socialized Medicine Like in Canada
The Insured Pay More To Help Cover the Costs of the Uninsured
Universal Coverage Will Overburden Our System
Costs of Research and Development Drive Our Higher Drug Prices
We Can Get to Universal Coverage Through Incremental Changes
Americans Won't Accept Single-Payer Universal Coverage
America's Health Care: The Monster We Have Created
Managed Care vs. Managed Cost: "Crazy Making"
Unrealistic Expectations
Ignorance of the Costs
The Paperwork Nightmare
Fraud and Abuse
The Paperwork Could Get Worse
Underutilization/Overutilization
The "Underutilizers"
The "Overutilizers"
Monster II: Perverse Incentives Lead to Bizarre Outcomes
There's "Gold in Them 'Thar' Patients"
Creating the Demand: The Sky's the Limit
The Ultimate Overutilization: "Boutique Medicine" for the Very Rich
Opting Out: An American Privilege?
Competition vs. Cooperation
Prevention vs. Cure
The Malpractice Conundrum
Employer-Based Insurance: An Anomaly
More Perverse Incentives for Providers and Patients Alike
The Mental Health Scam
The Patient Comes Last
The Market vs. the Patient
Delayed Care: Rationing American Style
The Mantra of "Personal Responsibility"
Some Terrible Consequences of Delayed Care
Jumping Hoops for the Uninsured: Caring for Patients at a Community Health Center

Why They Don't Come In
The Medical Visit, Prescriptions, and Tests: Games We Play
A Patchwork of Arrangements to Get Care
Why Do Our Patients Think We Don't Have Universal Coverage?
The Positive Side of Working With the Uninsured
Squeezing the Patient: Co-Pays and Deductibles
Why Do Physicians Support Co-Pays?
Co-Pays That Hurt
The "Safety Net" and Co-Pays
The Larger Picture
Religion and Health Care Reform: "Personal Responsibility" vs. Caring for the Needy

How "The Market" Has Overridden Religion
The Role of "Personal Responsibility"
Free Clinics and WWJD
Health Care as a Human Right in the U.S.?
Public Health: We're All on This Planet Together
Public Health and Chronic Disease
The New Twist to Wake Us Up: Bioterrorism
Blaming the Victim: A Bad Rap for Medicare
Medicare as the Victim
Expanding and Improving Medicare
We Don't Want a Health Care System Like They Have in Those Foreign Countries
Americans are Clueless on What Happens
In Other Countries
Our Much-Maligned Neighbor to the North
Our Ranking in the World
Towards Finding a Solution
The Price of Health: How Much Should We Americans Be Spending on Health Care?
The "Good Old Days" Are Over
Costs Are Going Up, Up, Up
Ethics--and Profits vs. Patients
"Expecting the World"
The Future, Technology, and Costs
The Answer Needs to Come From the People
Don Quixote vs. the Establishment: Can the Medical-Industrial Complex Be Toppled? p. 169

"The Evil Empire": How Bad Is It?
Toppling the Windmills
Appealing to Self-Interest--Does It Have a Chance?
The Drug Barons
The Camelots of Health Care
The Lords of Medicine
Tilting at Windmills From Beyond the Medical Establishment
In Search of a "Uniquely American" Solution to Health Care for All p. 183
Universal Uninsurance
What About Poor Folks? Charity Care to the Rescue
Potential Obstacles to Universal Uninsurance
The Sad Truth: Fantasy May Resemble Reality
Grassroots for Health Care for All: What Can Americans Do to Claim a Right to Health Care? p. 191

Timing and the Changing Battlefield
Groups, Old and New, Promoting Health Care for All
The Community-Based Efforts
More Talk, Less Progress?
What Specific Actions Steps Will It Take to Motivate Grassroots America?
National Health Insurance or Medicare for All: A Reality in Our Lifetime? p. 206
It's Become Fashionable to Talk About Universal Coverage
Why Don't the People Who Know Better Do Something?
The Naysayers' Logic
"Single Payer Will Not Fly": A Response p. 216
Does "Incremental" Have a Chance?
How About Affordability for the Patient?
"Best" vs. "Better": In Search of Value for Our Money
Needed for Affordable and Effective Health Care Reform in America: A Paradigm Shift for Prevention p. 222
A Prime Example: America's Epidemic of Obesity
What Are the Side Effects of Making Exercise "Mainstream"?
Action Steps to "Put Prevention Into America"
Epilogue: Beyond Universal Coverage p. 234
Assuring Adequate Coverage
Reclaiming Dignity
Keeping America Clueless