Al-Qaeda and the war on terror
The jihadist mutation
The indefinable war
Three years after 9/11: an interview with Peter Bergen
The essence of al-Qaeda: an interview with Saad al-Faqih
Al-Qaeda’s next generation
Al-Qaeda today and the real roots of terrorism: an interview with Jason Burke
A new journal for Algerian jihad
The targets inside cities, from Mu’askar al-Battar
Focusing on the war on terror: an interview with Daniel Benjamin
The 9/11 Commission report: a former CIA officer’s perspective
An interview with the Honorable R. James Woolsey
Financing terror: from bogus banks to honey bees
Al-Qaeda and maritime terrorism
Anti-ship warfare and Molotov cocktails at the siege of Acre, 1190
Plugging the holes in maritime security
Eurasia
The ‘Chechen Arabs’: an introduction to the real al-Qaeda terrorists from Chechnya

Russia and the war on terror: not a trusted U.S. ally
Assessing the Moscow subway blast: tragic accident or a lethal spillover from the war in Chechnya?
Cynicism personified: Moscow and Riyadh’s collaboration against Chechnya
The assassination of Zelimkhan Yandarbiyev: implications for the war on terrorism

Operation Boomerang: Shamil Basaev’s justification for terrorism
Chechnya’s Abu Walid and the Saudi dilemma
Portrait of a Chechan mujahid leader
A Russian agent at the right hand of bin Laden?
Pashtun politics and violence in Afghanistan
An interview with Olivier Roy
Problem solved?
Terrorism in Afghanistan: remaining threats
Afghanistan’s resurgent Taliban
Assessing the myth of disarray
U.S. policy toward Afghanistan: promise and reality
Rashid Dostum: America’s secular ally in the war on terror
Narco-terrorism in Afghanistan
Trojan horse or genuine schism?: the Hezb-e-Islami split
Pakistan: uncertain ally in the war on terror
Radicals and reformers in Pakistani politics
The war on terror and the politics of violence in Pakistan
Karachi: where terrorists hide and thrive p. 189
A new deal for Pakistan?: Musharraf's stark choice p. 192
Peshawar: the obdurate bastion of Soviet-era mujahideen p. 196
The ISI: still terrorism's ally? p. 200
Pakistan's hunt for al-Qaeda in south Waziristan p. 203
Understanding Iran's relationship with Pakistan and al-Qaeda p. 207
Hizb ut-Tahrir in Uzbekistan and Kazakhstan: a comparative analysis p. 211
Kazakhstan's emerging role in the war on terror p. 214
Hizb ut-Tahrir in Central Asia p. 218
The terrorist threat in Central Asia: resurgence and adaptation p. 222
What lies ahead for Tajikistan p. 226
An interview with Sadykzhan Kamuluddin, president of the Islamic Center of the Republic of Kyrgyzstan p. 230
Hizb ut-Tahrir: stronger in Central Asia p. 234
Why extremism is on the rise in Uzbekistan p. 237
Terrorism in Uzbekistan: a self-made crisis p. 241
Uzbekistan and the war on terror: a view from the field p. 245
The Islamic movement in Uzbekistan: a resurgent IMU? p. 249
The Middle East and Africa p. 255
Syria and the birth of pan-Arab extremism p. 257
Turkey's al-Qaeda blowback p. 261
Tanzania: al-Qaeda's East African beachhead? p. 265
Muslim brotherhood in crisis? p. 272
Al-Qaeda's Egyptian prophet: Sayyid Qutb and the war on Jahliyya p. 275
The war within p. 278
Terror in the holy city: analyzing the al-Qaeda attacks in Mecca p. 283
Saudi Arabia: friend or foe? p. 286
Assessing the present and future threat in Saudi Arabia: an interview with Saad al-Faqih p. 289
Blackening the face of terrorism in Saudi Arabia p. 301
A Saudi oppositionist's view: an interview with Dr. Muhammad al-Massari p. 305
Saudi "black gold": will terrorism deny the west its fix? p. 313
The Saudi takeover of al-Azhar University p. 317
To all desiring jihad in the lands of the Arab peninsula, from
Mu'askar al-Battar, issue 10 p. 321
An interview with Jamal Khashoggi p. 325
Terrorism and complex warfare in Iraq p. 331
Understanding the roots of the Shi'a insurgency in Iraq p. 337
Foreign involvement in the Iraqi insurgency p. 341
Terror in Iraq: an interview with Dr. Mustafa Alani p. 346
Unmasking the Iraqi insurgency p. 359
Analyzing Ansar al-Islam p. 364
An interview with Hamid Bayati
Al-Azhar, Egyptian Islam and the war in Iraq
SCIRI : an American ally in Iraq?
The threat to Iraqi oil
The de-Ba'athification of Iraq
Ba'athist origins of the Zarqawi letter
Iran and al-Qaeda
The Iranian intelligence services and the war on terror
Mojahedin-e-Khalq : Saddam's Iranian allies
Iran and Afghanistan : hedging bets
US-Yemen relations and the war on terror : a portrait of Yemeni president Ali Abdullah Salih
Shi'ite insurgency in Yemen : Iranian intervention or mountain revolt?
Landscape of shifting alliances
Yemen's enduring challenges : an interview with Jonathan Winer
Shifting sands : al-Qaeda and tribal gun-running along the Yemeni frontier
The Soviet roots of Islamic militancy in Yemen
Cooperation and conflict : analyzing the US-Yemen relationship
East and Southeast Asia
Terrorism in Southeast Asia : keeping al-Qaeda at bay
Indonesia and the global war on terrorism : Jakarta's mediocre response to terror
Chinese foreign policy and the war on terror
Al-Qaeda's threat to Japan : Tokyo's wake-up call to the war on terrorism
Thailand's troubled border : Islamic insurgency or criminal playground?
The state of Jemaah Islamiyah and the future of terrorism in Southeast Asia
Facing the terrorist threat in the Malacca Strait
Indonesia : Southeast Asia's emergent front for transnational Islamic extremism
Hambali's capture : how significant for the war on terror?
Europe and the Americas
How and why : the 9/11 attacks on America
Londonistan
Spain's 9/11 : the Moroccan connection
The Madrid bombings : Spain as a "jihad" highway to western Europe
The Latin connection
The European response to September 11
Al-Muhajiroon in the UK : an interview with Sheikh Omar Bakri Mohammed
Who's who at Guantanamo Bay
Loose nukes and al-Qaeda in the Ukraine
The struggle within Islam : Albanian Muslims reject extremism
Inside Hizb ut-Tahrir : an interview with Jalaluddin Patel, leader of the Hizb ut-Tahrir in the UK