Introduction
Money and Markets: Economic, Legal, and Theological Foundations
Microfoundations of the uses of money
Money and its role in a decentralized market economy
Mensura et mensuratum: money as measure and measure for money
Standardization and monetization: legal perspectives
Kohelet and the co-evolution of a monetary economy and religion
Monetary Exchange: Historical and Social Roots
Money and image: the presence of the state on the routes of economy
The social world of Ecclesiastes
The development of monetary systems in Palestine during the Achaemenid and Hellenistic eras
Fate's gift economy: the Chinese case of coping with the asymmetry between man and fate

'Mothers and children': discourses on paper money during the Song period
'Buying heaven': the prospects of commercialized salvation in the fourteenth to sixteenth centuries
Monetary Exchange: Ethical Limits and Challenges
The monetization and demonetization of the human body: the case of compensatory payments for bodily injuries and homicide in ancient Near Eastern and ancient Israelite law books
What price do we place on life? Ethical observations on the limits of law and money in a case of transitional justice
Standardized monetization of the market and the argument for preferential justice

Religious faith and the market economy: a survey on faith and trust of Catholic entrepreneurs in China
Money, Wealth, and Desire
'Do not sell your soul for money': economy and eschatology in biblical and intertestamental traditions
'Businessmen and merchants will not enter the places of my father': early Christianity and market mentality
Desire in consumer culture: theological perspectives from Gregory of Nyssa and Augustine of Hippo
Money as God?: conclusions
Index

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.