

Context and the Characteristics of the Modern Revolution: Social mobilization and political development

Rapid growth as a destabilizing force

Explorations in the theory of social movements and revolutions

A redefinition of the revolutionary situation

Exploring Apparent Causes of Revolution from Different Perspectives

Student rebellion: vision of the future or echo from the past?

A theory of revolution

Social mobilization, political institutions and political violence: a cross-national analysis

Popular insurgency and social revolution in Central America

Periphery revolutions in world-system perspective, 1821-1985

Linking 'Causes' to 'Motives' in Political Upheaval: The paradox of revolution

Political revolutions and repression: an economic approach

Is revolution individually rational?: groups and individuals in revolutionary collective action

Recruitment of Revolutionaries: Social revolutions and mass military mobilization

Women's participation in Central American revolutions: a theoretical perspective

Political Stability in Comparative Perspective: Political stability and instability: some manifestations and causes

Modalities of civil-military stability in Africa

Lawless government and illegal opposition: reflections on the Middle East

Charisma revolution and state formation: Qaddafi and Libya

Iran's Islamic revolution in comparative perspective

The Fall of Communism: An interpretation of Communist decay: the role of evolutionary mechanism

The negotiated revolution in Hungary

The intangibles and imponderables of the transition to democracy

The political science of democratic transition in Eastern Europe

A Vision of the Future: Theories of revolution and the revolutions of 1989 in the USSR and Eastern Europe: the past and future

Racial and ethnic conflicts: a global perspective

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.