Preface: The National and International Faces of Federalism
Self-determination of Peoples as United Nations Principle. Historical Roots and Contemporary International Law/Municipal (Constitutional) Law Antinomies

Historical Origins of the Self-determination Principle
Self-determination as International Law and Municipal (Constitutional) Law principle
Emergence of States in Classical International Law

The doctrine of Recognition in its Declaratory and Constitutive Variants.
Declaratory and Constitutive Theories of Recognition
British practice: Russian Revolution Cases
British practice: the Ethiopian War and Spanish Civil War cases
Post-World War II: Yalta, Potsdam and the Cold War
Post-decolonization Succession States
Latin American practice: The Estrada Doctrine
British practice: The Declaratory Policy of Recognition
The Balkans. Dilemmas and Contradictions in Contemporary State Policies on Recognition
The United Nations Charter and Admission of States, and also their Exclusion
Admission to functionally-based or regionally-based International Organizations
The United Nations Charter Principle of Territorial Integrity of States. The Utı
Possidetis Doctrine as Element in State Succession
The utı possidetis doctrine
Federalism and Constitutional Pluralism as Self-Determination options for Plural-ethnic States. The Different Faces of Federalism in Comparative Constitutional Law

Self-determination and Self-government for Indigenous. Aboriginal peoples Classical, Anglo-Saxon Federalism and the Deux Nations (Compact) Theory of Federalism
Dilemmas and Contradictions within Classical. Juridical Federalism
Federalism and the New Pluralism: Re-defining the Constitutional Game and the Players

Pragmatic Accommodations: The Trial-and-error of Classical Federalism
New Thinking on Federalism: New Plural-constitutional Options
United Nations Initiatives for Federal Solutions for the Former Yugoslavia
Law and Politics and the Dialectical Unfolding of the Self-Determination Principle

The role of the Legal Advisor
Resume: New Thinking on Recognition and State Succession Excursus. Failed States: The Trial-and-error of Contemporary Exercises in Constitution-making and Nation-building
Yugoslavia: political implosion of uni-national, multi-cultural state
Palestine: Self-determination and State Succession dilemmas for the former British Mandated territory