A HISTORY OF ORGANISED PHARMACY IN SOUTH AFRICA
1885–1950

by
MIKE RYAN

The Society for The History of Pharmacy in South Africa
List of Contents

Foreword ...........................................  v
Acknowledgements ................................. vii
Frontispiece ..................................... viii
List of Illustrations ................................. xi
List of Tables ...................................... xii
List of Appendices ................................. xii
Introduction ........................................ xiii

1 Setting the Scene ................................. 1
Apothecaries Under Company Rule ............... 1
Protection Under Law ............................. 1
Public Perceptions of the Pharmacist in the Nineteenth Century ................. 2

2 Establishment of the First Pharmaceutical Organisations, 1885-7 ............... 11
Background ....................................... 11
The Founding of the South African Pharmaceutical Association ................. 13
The Cape Town Chemists Object to the Poisons Bill ............................. 17
Politicians and the Press Join in the Fray ................................... 18
The Founding of the Cape Pharmaceutical Society ............................. 20
Implications for Pharmacy of Having Two Professional Bodies .................. 22

3 Dividing the Profit: Shopkeepers and the Trading Doctor ......................... 25
In Competition with the Shopkeeper ................. 25
A Case Study in Confusion: “Are You Qualified?” ..................... 26
The Trading Doctor ................................ 26

4 Setting-up Shop: Education and Training ........................................ 31
Pharmaceutical Training in Germany and Britain ............................. 31
The Situation at the Cape .......................... 31
Comments on Apprenticeship ........................................ 35
Setting-up Shop ................................... 36
Like Father, Like Son .............................. 37
Pharmacy as a Means of Upward Social Mobility? ......................... 37

5 Why a Pharmacy Board? — The Cape Sets the Example .......................... 41
Background ....................................... 41
Apathy Takes Root ................................ 42
Proposals for Change ................................ 43
The Status Quo .................................... 43
Organised Pharmacy Responds with its Own Scheme ........................ 43
Objections of the Medical Fraternity ........................................ 44
Role of the Cape Pharmacists ........................................ 44
The 1891 Medical, Dental and Pharmacy Act ............................. 45
The Medical Committee Under Attack .................................... 46
The New Board ..................................... 46
Significance of the Pharmacy Board in South African History ............. 49

6 More Professional Bodies Established: Expansion of Organised Pharmacy, 1892-1918 ............... 51
The Role of Immigrant Pharmacists ........................................ 51
The Anglo-Boer War Attracts European Pharmacists ........................ 52
Growth of Pharmacy in the Transvaal ..................................... 54
Problems with Reciprocity in a Divided South Africa ......................... 56
The Transvaal Gets a Pharmacy Board .................................... 57
The Pretoria Society ................................... 59
Pharmacy in the Orange Free State ........................................ 61
Organised Pharmacy Takes Root in Natal ................................ 61
The Impact of the Anglo-Boer War on Pharmacy ............................. 62
Conclusion .......................................... 63

7 Towards Professionalisation — Part I: The Legal Battle and the Creation of a National Pharmacy Board ........................................ 65
Act of Union in 1910 Creates a New Mood ................................... 65
Further Problems with Reciprocity ........................................ 65
The First World War and its Effect on Pharmacy ............................. 66
A Powerful Professional Body — A Noble Goal ............................. 66
Background to the Legal Battle ........................................... 67
The Battle Lines are Drawn ........................................... 68
The 1928 Act — its Details ........................................... 68
The Poison Monopoly ....................................... 69
'Unfair' Competition ....................................... 70
The Position of a Body Corporate ....................................... 70
'Chemist and Druggist' or 'Pharmacist'? ................................... 71
Significance of the 1928 Act ........................................... 73