Advances in English Historical Linguistics (1996)

edited by
Jacek Fisiak
Marcin Krygier

Mouton de Gruyter
Berlin · New York 1998
Contents

Double prepositions in English
Gunnar Bergh ................................................................. 1

Motivations for producing and analyzing compounds in Wulfstan’s sermons
Don Chapman ............................................................... 15

The degrammaticalization of addressee-satisfaction conditionals in Early Modern English
Guohua Chen ................................................................. 23

From unasecendlic to unspeakable: The role of domain structure in morphological change
Christiane Dalton-Puffer ................................................. 33

Anthony Huish: A 17th-century English grammarian
Roberta Facchinetti ....................................................... 53

John Bullokar’s “Termes of Art”
Maurizio Gotti ............................................................... 63

The Dublin Vowel Shift and the historical perspective
Raymond Hickey ............................................................ 79

On the ideological boundaries of Old English dialects
Richard M. Hogg .......................................................... 107

The spread of -ly to present participles
Kristin Killie ................................................................. 119

Inversion after single and multiple topics in Old English
Willem F. Koopman ........................................................ 135

Epenthesis and Mouillierung in the explanation of i-umlaut: The rise and fall of a theory
Marcin Krygier .............................................................. 151

On minor declarative complementizers in the history of English: The case of but María José López-Couso and Belén Méndez-Naya ......................... 161
Contents

Bare and to-infinitives in Old English: Callaway revisited
Bettelou Los ................................................................. 173

The interplay of external and internal factors in morphological restructuring:
The case of you
Angelika Lutz ................................................................. 189

The origins of long-short allomorphy in English
Donka Minkova and Robert P. Stockwell ........................................ 211

Modals in past counterfactual conditional protases
Rafal Molencki ................................................................. 241

Downsizing the preterite-presents in Middle English
Stephen J. Nagle and Sara L. Sanders ......................................... 253

Social mobility and the decline of multiple negation in Early Modern English
Terttu Nevalainen ............................................................... 263

The grammaticalization in Medieval English
Michiko Ogura ................................................................. 293

Evolution theory and lexical diffusion
Mieko Ogura and William S-Y. Wang ........................................ 315

On nominative case assignment in Old English
Masayuki Ohkado ............................................................. 345

Social factors and pronominal change in the seventeenth century: The Civil-War effect?
Helena Raumolin-Brunberg ..................................................... 361

Towards an integrated view of the development of English: Notes on causal linking Matti Rissanen ................................................................. 389

Problems of functional structure in some relative clauses
Aimo Seppänen ............................................................... 407

Eighteenth-century linguistics and authorship: The cases of Dyche, Priestley, and Buchanan
Robin D. Smith ............................................................... 435
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Adverbialization and subject-modification in Old English</td>
<td>Toril Swan</td>
<td>443</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Standardization of English spelling: The eighteenth-century printers' contribution</td>
<td>Ingrid Tieken-Boon van Ostade</td>
<td>457</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The functional relationship between rules (Old English voicing of fricatives and lengthening of vowels before homorganic clusters)</td>
<td>Jerzy Welna</td>
<td>471</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Index of subjects</td>
<td></td>
<td>485</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>