Case Studies in Pharmacy Ethics

ROBERT M. VEATCH
Professor of Medical Ethics
The Kennedy Institute of Ethics
Georgetown University

AMY HADDAD
Professor of Pharmaceutical Sciences
School of Pharmacy and Allied Health Professions and Center for Health Policy and Ethics
Creighton University

New York          Oxford
OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
1999
Contents

Cases, xv

Introduction: Four Questions of Ethics, 3
What Makes Right Acts Right? 4
What Kinds of Acts Are Right? 9
How Do Rules Apply to Specific Situations? 12
What Ought to be Done in Specific Cases? 13
Notes, 14

Part I  Ethics and Values in Pharmacy

1. Values in Health and Illness, 19
   Identifying Value Judgments in Pharmacy, 20
   Separating Ethical and Other Evaluations, 26

2. What Is the Source of Moral Judgments? 31
   Grounding Ethics in the Professional Code, 32
   Grounding Ethics in the Physician’s Orders, 36
   Grounding Ethics in Hospital Policy, 39
   Grounding Ethics in the Patient’s Values, 41
   Grounding Ethics in Religious or Philosophical Perspectives, 43
   Notes, 45
CONTENTS

Part II Ethical Principles in Pharmacy Ethics

3. Benefiting the Patient and Others: The Duty to Do Good and Avoid Harm, 49
   Benefiting the Patient, 50
   Benefiting Society and Those Who Are Not Patients, 58
   Notes, 66

   Justice Among Patients, 68
   Justice between Patients and Others, 71
   Justice in Public Policy, 74
   Justice and Other Ethical Principles, 78
   Notes, 80

5. Autonomy, 81
   Determining Whether a Patient Is Autonomous, 84
   External Constraints on Autonomy, 88
   Overriding the Choices of Autonomous Persons, 90
   Notes, 96

6. Veracity: Dealing Honestly with Patients, 97
   The Condition of Doubt, 99
   Lying in Order to Benefit, 101
   Special Cases of Truth-Telling, 107
   The Right of Access to Medical Records, 112
   Notes, 114

7. Fidelity: Promise-Keeping and Confidentiality, 116
   The Ethics of Promises: Explicit and Implicit, 117
   The Limits on the Promise of Confidentiality, 121
   Breaking Confidence to Benefit Others, 125
   Incompetent, Impaired, and Dishonest Colleagues, 127
   Notes, 132

8. Avoidance of Killing, 134
   Active Killing Versus Letting Die, 137
   Withholding Versus Withdrawing Treatment, 141
   Direct Versus Indirect Killing, 143
   Justifiable Omissions, 147
14. Death and Dying, 257
   The Definition of Death, 258
   Competent and Formerly Competent Patients, 262
   Never Competent Patients, 264
   Limits Based on Interests of Others, 269
   Notes, 274

   Appendix, 277
   The Hippocratic Oath, 277
   American Pharmaceutical Association: Code of Ethics for Pharmacists, 278

   Index, 281