LITERARY CULTURE
AND U.S. IMPERIALISM

From the Revolution to World War II

JOHN CARLOS ROWE

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
2000
Contents

1. Literary Culture and U.S. Imperialism 3

2. The Dream of Enlightenment and the Nightmare of Imperialism: Charles Brockden Brown's Wieland and Edgar Huntly 25

3. Edgar Allan Poe's Imperial Fantasy and the American Frontier 53

4. Melville's Typee: U.S. Imperialism at Home and Abroad 77

6. Mark Twain's Rediscovery of America in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court 121

7. Race, Gender, and Imperialism in Stephen Crane: A Monstrous Case 141

8. The Education of Henry Adams and the American Empire 165

10. The View from Rock Writing Bluff: The Nick Black Elk Narratives and U.S. Cultural Imperialism 217

11. Opening the Gate to the Other America: The Afro-Caribbean Politics of Hurston's Mules and Men and Tell My Horse 253

12. After America 293

Notes 299

Index 367