TABLE OF CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF PLATES</td>
<td>xiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF FIGURES</td>
<td>xv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF MAPS</td>
<td>xvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF TABLES</td>
<td>xvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PREFACE</td>
<td>xix</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1 Introduction: From Generation to Generation

- The "German question"                                           1
- The broader significance of the "German question": modernization, industrialization, and nationalism 2
- The "German question," intellectual history, and the history of history 5
- The "German question" and social history 6
- The economic context of the "German question" 10
- The social and cultural context of the "German question" 13
- The political context of the "German question" 16
- From generation to generation: ruptures and shared experience 19

2 The Romantic Age, 1815–40

- The economic context: inherited traditions of economic development 21
- Economic landscapes 27
- East vs. west 30
- Protoindustrialization and economic development 33
- Urban communities and economic development 34
- Central governments and economic development 36
- Trends and cycles 38
- The social and cultural context: Romanticism as leitmotiv 39
The aristocracy 40
Agricultural families in east and west 42
Urban communities 44
Culture 45
The political context: Romanticism in politics 49
Political patterns 49
Popular protest 54

3 A Revolutionary Generation: The 1840s and the Revolutions of 1848 59
The economic context 61
Population growth 61
Trends and cycles: the railroad and early industrialization 63
The social context 66
Culture: literature and politics 66
The public sphere: Bürger, Bürgertum, Bildungsbürger, bürgerliche Gesellschaft 69
The private sphere: gender and the construction of public life 73
The social crisis: peasants, paupers, and proletariat 77
The political context 79
The “German question” 79
Governments and the social crisis 81
A rising revolutionary wave? 82
The revolutions of 1848 83

4 The Age of Realism, 1850–71 90
The economic context: the upswing of the 1850s and 1860s 94
Trends: the railroad and industrial development 94
Cycles: the international economy 97
The social context: realism as leitmotiv 100
Culture: the realistic novel 100
Social thought in the age of realism 103
A new “German” woman? Domesticity and social reform 104
Religious divisions and the problem of separate “milieus” 107
The political context: the politics of reaction and the politics of unification 111
CONTENTS

Reaction and realism 111
Liberalism and realism: taxes, transportation, and organization 114
The Prussian constitutional crisis 118
Realism in action: war and unification 120
Bismarck 125

5 An Anxious Generation, 1871–90 129
From realism to neoclassicism 129
The economic context: the Great Depression 134
The social and cultural context 144
Official neoclassicism 144
Old classes and new classes: aristocracy, besitzbürgertum, and proletariat 145
The “worker problem” 150
Images of the “German” woman 152
The political context: creating a national community 156
Constitution-making 157
The National Liberal Era and the Kulturkampf 163
The “second founding” of the empire: the Anti-Socialist Law, the bureaucracy, and tariff protection 167
Bismarck’s foreign policy 170
The year of the three Emperors and Bismarck’s fall 175

6 Neoclassical Façade and Modernist Revolt, 1890–1914 180
The economic context: the upswing 1896–1914 184
Trends: the golden age 184
Incomes and productivity 187
Money and banking 190
Cartels 192
The social context: the problem of the city 193
Urbanization and internal migration 193
Urban culture and German culture 196
The cultural context: neoclassicism and the struggle against modernism 202
Music 203
Literature 205
The visual arts 210
Urban culture and modern culture 214
7 Politics, Governance, and Diplomacy between Neoclassicism and Modernism

The political context: separate milieus

The public sphere
National minorities, Jews, and anti-Semitism
Catholics and the center
Socialists, labor unions, and workers’ culture
The Conservative milieu: Prussia and the aristocracy
The Protestant middle classes and the Liberal parties

High politics in the modern world: the power of the monarch
The Emperor, the military, and foreign policy
Wilhelm the conqueror
The Tirpitz Plan
The Schlieffen Plan
The road to war
Germany and Europe
The failure of diplomacy

8 The First World War

The failure of strategy
The failure of the Schlieffen Plan
Westerners and easterners
Allies and enemies on land and at sea
The economic context: the problems of mobilization and coordination

The social and cultural context: the battle front and the home front
Culture goes to war
The battle front: the “front-fighter generation”
The home front: a divided society at war

The political context: military leadership and the opposition
The role of Germany’s leaders
The return to politics
Collapse

9 An Expressionist Age: The Weimar Republic, 1918–33

The economic context: the search for stability
The failure of the interwar economy
Reparations and inflation 329
Investment and industrial organization 334

The social and cultural context: expressionism as leitmotiv 340
The range of expression 343
Protecting the race: population and eugenics 349
The “new woman” and the “woman question” 352
Wayward youth 358
The working class 359
Mass culture and popular culture 363

10 The Politics of Feeling and the Search for Stability 370
Establishing democracy, 1918–24 373
The old milieus in a new generation 377
German Jews and anti-Semitism 378
Catholics in the Weimar system 382
The working-class milieu: Socialists, Communists, and workers 384
The Conservative milieu 387
The structures of Weimar politics 391
The constitution, the President, and the parties 393
The Reich, the states, and the bureaucracy 397
The depression and the collapse of Weimar 401
The rise of Nazism 410

11 A “German Style”: The Nazi Generation 420
The seizure of power 424
The Nazi economy 427
The social and cultural context 434
Nazi culture 435
Women and the family: mothers in the fatherland 442
Daily life in Nazi Germany 449
Jews in Nazi Germany 451

12 Nazi Politics: The Road to War and the Holocaust 457
The political context 459
Hitler 459
The Nazi leadership 462
The Nazis and the old elites 465
Politics and everyday life 468

The Second World War 473

Hitler's foreign policy 473

Blitzkrieg 475

The war economy 480

Collapse 483

The Holocaust 486

13 Abstract Expressionism and Socialist Realism: Divided Germany in an Age of Economic Miracles 496

Zero hour and occupation 500

Plans for Germany 500

The zones and the establishment of two Germanies 503

The economic context 507

Expellees, refugees, and migrants 507

Reconstruction 511

The age of economic miracles 514

The golden age 519

The social and cultural context 521

Can there be art after Auschwitz? 521

Women, families, and social control 525

Housing and social control 529

Labor relations and social control 531

Rock’n’roll: youth, education, and social control 534

The political context 540

West Germany: consensus politics 540

East Germany: the structure and functioning of a one-party state 545

The “German Question” and the past that would not go away 547

Victimhood 548

Denazification 551

Atonement 553

14 A Postmodern Generation: West and East Germany after the Miracle, 1973–89 558

The economic context: the era of slow growth 561

The lost golden age 561
Contents

Competing visions: West Germany’s social market economy under challenge 568
Crumbling concrete: East Germany in crisis 570
The cultural context: postmodernism as leitmotiv 573
West Germany: America’s most boring colony 573
East Germany: Socialist realism in a postmodern age 576
The social context: postmodernism as lived experience 578
Churches and workers: the end of separate milieus? 580
Minorities 582
Women and feminism 584
The political context: the expansion of the public sphere 588
East Germany 592
West Germany 594
Could Germany become normal? Postmodern identity and coming to terms with the past 600
Remembering and forgetting 600
Neo-Conservatism and the inability to mourn 605

15 Neo-Realism: Reunification and Reunited Germany 614
Reunification 616
The economic context: reunified Germany in the global economy 627
The economics of German unification 627
Germany in the European and world economies 632
The social and cultural context: neo-Realism as leitmotiv 639
Integration 639
Taxes, wealth, and class 640
Women 642
Wayward youth 645
Citizenship and identity 648
Culture 649
The political context: the search for a new national identity 653
The global public sphere 653
Parties and elections 654
Germany, the European Union, and a world with one superpower 659
The past that has still not gone away 660
The search for a German history 660
CONTENTS

Divided memory 661
A concluding symbol 664

BIBLIOGRAPHY 668
INDEX 714