Modern Children’s Literature
An Introduction

Edited by Kimberley Reynolds
Contents

List of Contributors vii
List of Boxes viii
List of Figures ix
Acknowledgements x

Introduction Kimberley Reynolds 1

1 Theories of Genre and Gender: Change and Continuity in the School Story Pat Pinsent 8
E. Blyton, Claudine at St Clares; The O'Sullivan Twins;
E. Brent-Dyer, A Genius at the Chalet School; Exploits of the Chalet Girls; The Wrong Chalet School; A. Digby, Second Term at Trebizon; A. Forest, Autumn Term; End of Term; J. K. Rowling, Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone

2 Sociology, Politics, the Family: Children and Families in Anglo-American Children's Fiction, 1920–60 Kimberley Reynolds 23
J. Lankester Brisley, Milly-Molly-Mandy; B. Cleary, Beezus and Ramona; D. Edwards, My Naughty Little Sister; E. Garnett, The Family from One End Street; N. Streaneild, Ballet Shoes; L. Ingalls Wilder, Little House in the Big Woods

3 Fantasy, Psychology and Feminism: Jungian Readings of Classic British Fantasy Fiction Susan Hancock 42
C. S. Lewis, The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe;
J. R. R. Tolkien, The Hobbit

4 Autobiography and History: Literature of War Gillian Lathey 58
N. Bawden, Carrie's War; I. Dische, Between Two Seasons of Happiness; J. Kerr, When Hitler Stole Pink Rabbit

5 Comparative and Psychoanalytic Approaches: Personal History and Collective Memory Gillian Lathey 74
M. Foreman, War Boy; G. Pausewang, The Final Journey;
T. Ungerer, Die Gedanken sind frei; Tomi: A Childhood under the Nazis; R. Westall, The Machine-Gunners

6 Fantasy – Postwar, Postmodern, Postcolonial: Houses in Postwar Fantasy Sarah Godek 89
L. Boston, The Children of Green Knowe; M. Norton,
The Borrowers; N. Wheatley, The House that was Eureka;
T. H. White, Mistress Masham's Repose
7 Feminism and History: Historical Fiction – Not Just a Thing of the Past Peter Bramwell
M. Furlong, Wise Child; A Year and a Day, retitled Juniper; S. Jordan, The Raging Quiet; T. Tomlinson, The Forestwife Trilogy (The Forestwife; Child of the May; The Path of the She-Wolf)

8 Childhood, Youth Culture and the Uncanny: Uncanny Nights in Contemporary Adolescent Fiction Lisa Sainsbury
G. Cross, Wolf; A. Garner, The Owl Service; J. Whedon, Buffy the Vampire Slayer

9 Fantasy, Psychoanalysis and Adolescence: Magic and Maturation in Fantasy Peter Bramwell
M. Mahy, Alchemy; S. Price, The Ghost Drum

10 Chronotopes and Heritage: Time and Memory in Contemporary Children's Literature Lisa Sainsbury
M. Anno et al., All in a Day; A. Provoost, Falling; H. Scott, Why Weeps the Brogan?; M. Sedgwick, The Dark Horse

11 Postmodernism, New Historicism and Migration: New Historical Novels Pat Pinsent
G. Crew, Strange Objects; L. Crew, Children of the River; P. Fox, The Slave Dancer; J. Wakatsuki Houston and J. D. Houston, Farewell to Manzanar; A. Na, A Step from Heaven; B. Naidoo, Journey to Jo’burg; G. Paulsen, Nightjohn; M. Taylor, Roll of Thunder, Hear my Cry

12 Language, Genres and Issues: the Socially Committed Novel Pat Pinsent
M. Blackman, Noughts and Crosses; B. Naidoo, The Other Side of Truth; R. Swindells, Daz4Zoe; J. Ure, Cool Simon; V. E. Wolff, True Believer

13 Reading Contemporary Picturebooks Judith Graham

14 Picturebook Case Study: Politics and Philosophy in the Work of Raymond Briggs Lisa Sainsbury

15 Electronic Texts and Adolescent Agency: Computers and the Internet in Contemporary Children’s Fiction Noga Applebaum
M. Blackman, Computer Ghost; L. Cooper, Incy Wincy Spider; M. Haddix, Amongst the Hidden; L. Howarth, Weather Eye; Ultraviolet; C. Jinks, To Die For; J. Larkin, Ghost Byte; C. Plaisted, e-love; W. Sleator, Rewind

References

Index