

Pedagogy, Praxis, Ulysses

Using Joyce's Text to Transform the Classroom

Edited by

Robert Newman

Ann Arbor

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN PRESS

Contents

Illustrations	ix
Introduction Robert Newman	I
I. BEGINNINGS, NARRATIVES, IDENTITIES	7
“In the buginning is the woid”: Opening Lines and the Protocols of Reading Michael Patrick Gillespie	9
Ulysses and the Preemptive Power of Plot Kevin J. H. Dettmar	21
Teaching Joyce Teaching Kristeva: Estrangement in the Modern World Carol Shloss	47
Bread and Wine, Coke and Peanuts: Teaching Sacrificial Feasts Margaret Mills Harper	63
2. CIVILIZATION AND ITS (DIS)CONTEXTS	77
Theater of the Mind: “Circe” and Avant-Garde Form Margot Norris	79
Women in Rooms, Women in History Susan Shaw Sailer	97
Teaching Freud through “Nausicaa” Brian W. Shaffer	121

3. IDEOLOGY AND VOICE	133
Decolonizing Literature: Ulysses and the Postcolonial Novel in English M. Keith Booker	135
Teaching Howards End through Ulysses through Bakhtin R. Brandon Kershner	153
Dialogic Monologue, or Divided Discourse in Ulysses and Othello Sheldon Brivic	167
4. VISUALIZING PEDAGOGY	179
Reading the Text of Ulysses , "Reading" Other "Texts": Representation and the Limits of Visual and Verbal Narratives Roy Gottfried	181
Ulysses , Cubism, and MTV Archie K. Loss	195
Discovering Body Tropes through Ulysses Robert Newman	207
5. CLASSIFICATION AND INVENTION	223
"Cyclops," "Sirens," and the Myths of Multicultural Modernism Craig Werner	225
Ulysses , Order, Myth: Classification and Modern Literature E. P. Walkiewicz	241
The Heuretics of Odyssey : Ulysses in Florida Gregory L. Ulmer	253
Contributors	267