PERIODICAL LITERATURE IN NINETEENTH-CENTURY AMERICA

Edited by Kenneth M. Price

and Susan Belasco Smith

University Press of Virginia
Charlottesville and London
CONTENTS

Introduction: Periodical Literature in Social and Historical Context
SUSAN BELASCO SMITH AND KENNETH M. PRICE 3

1 From Dial Essay to New York Book: The Making of Woman in the Nineteenth Century
LARRY J. REYNOLDS 17

2 From Periodical Writer to Poet: Whitman's Journey through Popular Culture
DAVID S. REYNOLDS 35

3 Uncommon Discourse: Fanny Fern and the New York Ledger
JOYCE W. WARREN 51

4 Serialization and the Nature of Uncle Tom's Cabin
SUSAN BELASCO SMITH 69

5 Lydia Maria Child and the Juvenile Miscellany: The Creation of an American Children's Literature
CAROLYN L. KARCHER 90

6 Magazine Practices and Melville's Israel Potter
SHEILA POST-LAURIJA 115

7 Addressing or Redressing the Magazine Audience: Edmund Quincy's Wensley
EZRA GREENSPAN 133

8 Serial Politics in William Gilmore Simms's Woodcraft
PATRICIA OKKER 150
9   “Don’t Tell! They’d Advertise”: Emily Dickinson in the Round Table
    ROBERT J. SCHOLNICK

10  Home from the Theatre of War: The Southern Magazine and Recollections of the Civil War
    KATHLEEN DIFFLEY

11  Not Just Filler and Not Just Sentimental: Women’s Poetry in American Victorian Periodicals, 1860–1900
    PAULA BENNETT

12  Ambrose Bierce and the Transformation of the Gothic Tale in the Nineteenth-Century American Periodical
    GARY HOPPENSTAND

13  The North-South Reconciliation Theme and the “Shadow of the Negro” in Century Illustrated Magazine
    JANET GABLER-HOVER

14  Charles Chesnutt, the Atlantic Monthly, and the Intersection of African-American Fiction and Elite Culture
    KENNETH M. PRICE

Contributors

Index