CONTENTS

PREFACE ................................................................. 7

I. OVERVIEW OF THE INFORMATION REVOLUTION

Editor's Introduction .............................................. 9
The National Information Infrastructure: Agenda for Action .... Executive Office of the President, Information Infrastructure Task Force 9
Gary H. Anthes. The History of the Future .................... Computerworld 39
Esther Dyson, George Gilder, Jay Keyworth and Alvin Toffler. A Magna Carta for the Knowledge Age ............... New Perspectives Quarterly 45

II. ECONOMIC AND BUSINESS ASPECTS

Editor's Introduction .............................................. 66
Michael J. Mandel. The Digital Juggernaut ... Business Week 66
Stratford Sherman. Will the Information Superhighway Be the Death of Retailing? ....................... Fortune 74
Deborah Baldwin. If This Is the Information Superhighway, Where Are the Rest Stops? ... Common Cause Magazine 82
Information Superhighway ............. The Freedom Forum 94

III. LEGAL AND LEGISLATIVE ISSUES

Editor's Introduction .............................................. 101
Edward J. Markey. A Legislative Agenda for Telecommunications ... Issues in Science and Technology 101
Paul Wallich. Wire Pirates ....................... Scientific American 119
Gary Wolf. Who Owns the Law? .................. Wired 133

IV. POLITICAL AND POLICYMAKING ASPECTS

Editor's Introduction ........................................ 144
Fred H. Cate. The National Information Infrastructure:
Policymaking and Policymakers ....................... Stanford Law & Policy Review 144
Frank M. Tuerkheimer. The Underpinnings of Privacy
Protection ..................... Communications of the ACM 164
Roger S. Conrad. Winning Votes on the Information
Super-highway ......................... Campaigns & Elections 173
James H. Snider. Democracy On-Line ........... The Futurist 185

V. CULTURAL AND SOCIAL ASPECTS

Editor's Introduction ........................................ 194
Tom Maddox. The Cultural Consequences of the Information
Superhighway ......................... Wilson Quarterly 194
George Gilder. Breaking the Box ............ National Review 202
Bronwyn Fryer. Sex & the Superhighway ...........
................................................ Working Woman 210
John Zipperer. The Naked City ............ Christianity Today 218

BIBLIOGRAPHY

BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS ...................................... 227
ADDITIONAL PERIODICAL ARTICLES WITH ABSTRACTS .... 228