

---

---

Rocking the Boat

Union Women's Voices, 1915-1975

---

---

Brigid O'Farrell and Joyce L. Kornbluh

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY PRESS
New Brunswick, New Jersey

Contents

		Preface	ix
		Acknowledgments	xiii
Chapter 1	1	An Overview: And Not Falling Out
Chapter 2	10	Equal Is Equal, Brothers Lillian Herstein, American Federation of Teachers (1886–1983)
Chapter 3	34	First a Troublemaker, Then a Troubleshooter Carmen Lucia, United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers International Union (1902–1985)
Chapter 4	58	You Can't Giddyup by Saying Whoa Esther Peterson, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (1906– )
Chapter 5	84	We Did Change Some Attitudes Maida Springer-Kemp, International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (1910– )
Chapter 6	110	Forty Years I'm Secretary-Treasurer of the Local Mary Callahan, International Union of Electrical Workers (1914–1981)
Chapter 7	135	The Challenge Is Still There Ah Quon McElrath, International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (1915– )
Chapter 8	159	Sometimes You Have to Rock the Boat Dorothy Haener, United Auto Workers (1918– )
Chapter 9	184	The Vote Does Make a Difference Fannie Allen Neal, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (1919–1990)

Chapter 10	208	Just Sign a Contract and You Can Call Me Anything Jessie De La Cruz, United Farm Workers of America (1919- )
Chapter 11	231	Somebody Has to Have the Guts Catherine Conroy, Communications Workers of America (1920-1989)
Chapter 12	257	People in the Plant Looked on Me as a Fighter Alice Peurala, United Steelworkers of America (1928-1986)
Postscript	279	Union Update
		Notes 281
		Bibliography 301
		Index 307