New Automation Technology for Acquisitions and Collection Development

Rosann Bazirjian
Guest Editor

The Acquisitions Librarian
Numbers 13/14

The Haworth Press, Inc.
New York
New Automation Technology for Acquisitions and Collection Development

The Acquisitions Librarian
Numbers 13/14

CONTENTS

Introduction 1
Rosann Bazirjian

AUTOMATED SYSTEMS

The Great Migration: Second Generation Acquisition and Library Management Systems 5
Marsha J. Hamilton

Introduction 5
Selecting a System 9
Implementing a System 18

Developing a Local Acquisitions System Using the Joint Application Design (JAD) Process: The Indiana Experience 35
Julieann V. Nilson

Introduction 35
Background 36
Acquisitions Design/Development Processes in Libraries 38
Goals and Expectations of a Local System Development Project 39
Joint Application Design (JAD) 40
JAD at Indiana University Libraries 42
Evaluation and Conclusion 51
Serials Automation
Sarah D. Tusa

The Beginning–An Introduction 55
Accuracy of Check-In 57
SISAC Code 58
Benefits to the Library Patron 59
Ease of Payment 60
Development of Other Applications 60
Conclusion 63

VENDED SYSTEMS

Automated Library Acquisitions and the Internet: A New Model for Business 65
Marylou Hale

History of Computers 66
History of Library Automated Acquisitions 67
History of the Internet 69
Traditional Model of Library Acquisitions 72
New Model of Acquisitions Using the Internet 73
Future Uses of the Internet and Library Acquisitions 79

Integrating Vendor Systems into Acquisitions Workflow 83
Lynne Branche Brown

Introduction 83
Incorporating a Vendor System into Workflow 84
Evaluating Vendor Systems 86
Conclusion 88

Acquisitions and Vended Services: A Personal View 89
Dorothy K. Marcinko
REORGANIZATION

Automation and Change in Acquisitions
at R. M. Cooper Library

JoAnne Deeken

Introduction 95
History 97
Planning for Reorganization 102
Implementation of Reorganization 107
Other “Opportunities” 110
Reorganization of the Libraries 112
Axioms of Reorganization 117

FastCat

Nancy Slight-Gibney

Introduction 121
Implementation 124
FastCat Procedures at the University of Oregon 130
Impact of FastCat 134
Evaluation 136
Future Implications 139

Acquisitions’ Role in Document Delivery and Fulfillment

Marifran Bustion

Background 141
Traditional Library Services 142
Interlibrary Loan 143
Document Delivery and Interlibrary Loan 145
The Library’s Role 146
Acquisitions’ Role 149
Conclusion 151
PURCHASING ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

Purchasing Electronic Resources: An Acquisitions Perspective

Nancy Markle Stanley

Introduction 153
Administrative Planning and Support 154
Budgeting and Funding 155
Staffing 156
Selection 156
Ordering Stages 157
Conclusions 163

Buying, Leasing and Connecting to Electronic Information: The Changing Scene of Library Acquisitions

Jeri VanGoethem

165

AUTOMATED SYSTEMS AND ACCOUNTING

Interfacing with Central Accounts

Kristine L. Murphy

Project Background 176
Library Structure 176
Manual Environment 177
Issues Faced 178
Solutions 180
Interface Process 187
Conclusion 188

The Acquisitions Audit in the Automated Environment

Mary Faust

Introduction 191
Types of Audits and Auditors 192
Purpose of an Audit 193
Benefits of an Audit 195
Acquisitions Operations 195
The Audit Trail 200
Preparation for an Audit 202
SPECIAL REPORTS

Perspectives on Multicultural Acquisitions 209
Mary J. Bostic

Introduction 209
The Importance of Multicultural Acquisitions and Services 209
Evaluating Multicultural Literature 213
Collection Development Policy 215
Identification of a Selected Major Ethnic Collection 218
Conclusion 220

Case Study of Factors Surveyed Impacting Video Resource Sharing Among Member Libraries in the Mid-Hudson Library System 223
Susan L. Hauer

Introduction 223
Purpose 224
Limitations 225
Review of the Literature 225
Research Design 227
Conclusions and Recommendations for Further Study 235