TRAVEL AND DRAMA IN SHAKESPEARE'S TIME

EDITED BY
JEAN-PIERRE MAQUERLOT
AND MICHÈLE WILLEMS
Centre d'études du théâtre anglo-saxon, Université de Rouen

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS
Contents

List of contributors

1 Introduction
   JEAN-PIERRE MAQUERLOT AND MICHELE WILLEMS

2 Foreign relations in Jacobean England: the Sherley brothers and the ‘voyage of Persia’
   ANTHONY PARR

3 ‘The naked and the dead’: Elizabethan perceptions of Ireland
   ANDREW HADFIELD

4 The Elizabethans in Italy
   JONATHAN BATE

5 Tragic form and the voyagers
   PHILIP EDWARDS

6 Nationality and language in Thomas Kyd’s The Spanish Tragedy
   J. R. MULRYNE

7 Marlowe’s Argonauts
   YVES PEYRÉ

8 Pirates and ‘turning Turk’ in Renaissance drama
   LOIS POTTER

9 The wrong end of the telescope
   BRIAN GIBBONS
10 ‘Travelling hopefully’: the dramatic form of journeys in English Renaissance drama
PETER HOLLAND 160

11 ‘Seeing things’ : Amazons and cannibals
MICHAEL HATTAWAY 179

12 Industrious Ariel and idle Caliban
ANDREW GURR 193

13 The New World in The Tempest
LEO SALINGAR 209

14 ‘What’s past is prologue’ : metatheatrical memory and transculturation in The Tempest
GÜNTER WALCH 223

15 Lope de Vega and Shakespeare
KENNETH MUIR 239

Index 255