CONTENTS

Introduction
- Willa Cather and European Cultural Influences
  Dr Helen M. Dennis (University of Warwick)
  iii

1 Building Dwelling Thinking: “Extreme Consciousness” in Cather and Lawrence
- Fiona Becket (University of Staffordshire)
  1

2 Under the Linden Tree: Passion and Suppression in Cather and Goethe
- Ian F.A. Bell & Meriel Lland (Keele University)
  15

3 “Tonight Mrs. Forrester began with ‘Once upon a time’”: Origins and Traces in the Work of Willa Cather
- Helen M. Dennis (University of Warwick)
  33

4 Signifying the Subaltern: Europe’s Others in Selected Texts of Willa Cather
- Alison Donnell (Nottingham Trent University)
  53

5 Whose Ántonia? Appropriations in My Ántonia
- Bridget Bennett (University of Warwick)
  67

6 A World Broken in Two: the Writing of the European War in Willa Cather’s One of Ours and Virginia Woolf’s Mrs. Dalloway
- Julie Sanders (Keele University)
  79

7 Willa Cather’s Translated World: Migration and Linguistic Diversity
- Guy Reynolds (University of Kent at Canterbury)
  97

8 From Little French Mary to Cuzak’s Boys: Aspects of the Immigrant Experience in the Work of Sarah Orne Jewett and Willa Cather
- Graham Frater (University of Warwick)
  111

9 Good Housekeepers: Flaubertian Fictions of Domesticity
- Helen M. Dennis (University of Warwick)
  121

Further Reading
  143