The Racism Problematic:
Contemporary Sociological Debates on
Race and Ethnicity

Edited by

Rohit Barot
Department of Sociology
University of Bristol

The Edwin Mellen Press
Lewiston/Queenston/Lampeter
Contents

Acknowledgements vi

Introduction
Rohit Barot, Lecturer in Sociology, University of Bristol 1

Chapter 1
The Racism Problematic
Michael Banton, Emeritus Professor of Sociology, University of Bristol 20

Chapter 2
Michael Banton’s Twins: Affiliation and Formation in the Rational Choice Theory of Racial and Ethnic Relations
Alan Carling, Lecturer in Sociology, University of Bradford 44

Chapter 3
“Us” and “Them”: Ethnicity, Racism and Ideology
Richard Jenkins, Professor of Sociology, University of Sheffield 69

Chapter 4
If Races Don’t Exist, Then What Does? Racial Categorisation and Ethnic Realities
Tariq Modood, Senior Research Fellow, Policy Studies Institute 89
Chapter 5

Ethnicity and Modernity: The Case of Ismailis in Britain
Badr Dahya, Research Associate, University of Bristol 106

Chapter 6

The Subject is Ethnicity
Steve Fenton, Senior Lecturer in Sociology, University of Bristol 139

Chapter 7

The Politics of Racial Pluralism in Britain: Problems of Evaluation
Shamit Saggar, Lecturer in Politics, Queen Mary and Westfield College, University of London 166

Chapter 8

Some Reflections on the Sociology of Race and Racism
David Mason, Professor of Sociology, University of Plymouth 193

Chapter 9

Race and Racism in Social Theory
John Solomos, Professor of Sociology, University of Southampton and Les Back, Lecturer in Sociology at Goldsmith's College, University of London 212

Chapter 10

Racism and Nationalism in the United Kingdom: A View from the Periphery
Robert Miles, Professor of Sociology, University of Glasgow 231

Bibliography 256

Index 275