Transports: Travel, Pleasure, and Imaginative Geography, 1600–1830

Edited by Chloe Chard and Helen Langdon
Contents

Foreword vii
Editors' Acknowledgements viii

Introduction
Chloe Chard 1

Visitors' Visions: Travellers' Tales of Georgian London
Roy Porter 31

Lord Byron's Grander Tour
Rosemary Bechler 49

Infectious Enthusiasms:
Influence, Contagion, and the Experience of Rome
Richard Wrigley 75

Crossing Boundaries and Exceeding Limits:
Destabilization, Tourism, and the Sublime
Chloe Chard 117

The Imaginative Geographies of Claude Lorrain
Helen Langdon 151

Private Cabinets and Popular Geology:
The British Audiences for Volcanoes
in the Eighteenth Century
Richard Hamblyn 179

'To remind us of China'—William Beckford,
Mental Traveller on the Grand Tour:
The Construction of Significance in Landscape
E. S. Shaffer 207

Liberty and Licence:
The Forsters' Accounts of New Zealand Sociality
Nicholas Thomas 243
Trade, Travel, and Treasure:
Seventeenth-Century Artificial Curiosities
Ken Arnold 263

The Journey and Its Narratives
Tzvetan Todorov
translated by Alyson Waters 287

Notes on Contributors 297

Bibliography 299

Index 325