Teaching Information Retrieval and Evaluation Skills to Education Students and Practitioners

A Casebook of Applications

Prepared by

The Bibliographic Instruction for Educators Committee
Education and Behavioral Sciences Section
Association of College and Research Libraries
American Library Association

Edited by

Patricia O'Brien Libutti
Bonnie Gratch

Foreword by Patricia Senn Breivik
Table of Contents

Foreword
Patricia Senn Breivik
v

Acknowledgements
vii

Introduction
Patricia O'Brien Libutti and Bonnie Gratch
ix

Case Studies: Applications from the Field

I. High School to Undergraduate Students

1. Teaching Internet: Global Networking in the High School
   Kathleen Green
   1

2. Preparing Undergraduates for Research Projects in Classroom Management
   Jean Caspers
   15

3. Introducing Undergraduates in Special Education to the Resources of the Education Library
   Helga Visscher
   27

4. Undergraduate Introduction to ERIC on CD-ROM
   Michael L. Tillman
   35

II. Graduate Students, Faculty, Practitioners

5. Teaching Graduate Students the Use and Purpose of Tests and Measurements
   Peter C. Monat
   47

6. Practitioners as Researchers: Keyword Searching of Journal Indexes
   Prue Stelling
   55

7. One-on-One Instruction for Doctoral Students or Faculty
   Claudia J. Morner
   65
8. Teaching Doctoral Students to Access and Search the Library's Catalog and Other Databases
   Anaclare F. Evans
   73

9. Introduction to Internet Resources for Graduate Education Students
   Sally J. Jacobs
   83

10. Integrating the School Library Media Center Into the Classroom: Introducing a Student Teacher to Resource-Based Teaching
    Frances F. Jacobson
    93

11. Conclusions: The Case as Practice and the Case as Story
    Bonnie Gratch and Patricia O'Brien Libutti
    103

12. Reflective Practioner Literature: A Selective Annotated Bibliography
    Carla Rosenquist-Buhler
    117

   Appendix A: Information Retrieval and Evaluation Skills for Education Students 121

   Appendix B: Instructional Planning and Reflection Guides 133

   Appendix C: About the Authors
   137