CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION. Shlomith Rimmon-Kenan 9

PART I. FROM CLOSED SYSTEM TO OPENNESS IN CRITICAL APPROACH

1. Barbara Hardy, “Good Times in Jude the Obscure, or, Rereading Hardy’s Dogmatic Form” 21
3. Zephyra Porat, “Specular Twinities: Reading Melville’s Praise of Folly with Other Eyes” 55
6. Gavriel Ben-Ephraim, “The Disappearing Drive: Rereading Literature and Psychoanalysis / Lawrence and Freud” 101
7. Robert M. Polhemus, “The Lot Complex: Rereading the End of Joyce’s Finnegans Wake and Rewriting Incest” 119

PART II. FROM TEXT TO CONTEXT

8. J. Hillis Miller, “The Roar on the Other Side of Silence: Otherness in Middlemarch” 137
10. Regenia Gagnier, “Further Reflections on Sympathetic Identification” 163
11. Gershon Shaked, “‘A Groan from a Broken Heart’: Fishke the Lame by Mendele Mokher Seforim as a Demand for Responsibility” 177
12. Robert Tracy, “‘The Cracked Lookingglass of a Servant’: Inventing the Colonial Novel” 197
13. Hana Wirth-Nesher, "‘I Must Be Put Somewheres, Dear Boy’: Dickens, Twain, and National Geographies" 213
14. Murray Baumgarten, "Herzog and ‘Dignity’: Clown and Columbina in the Modern City" 227

PART III. FROM CONTEXT TO TEXT

16. Frank Kermode, "Under Western Eyes Revisited" 263
17. Mark Kinkead-Weekes, "An Affair into Art: A Question of Boundaries" 275
19. Emily Miller Budick, "Reading--Literally--Through Death: Rereading Beloved" 305
20. Tony Tanner, "Paper-Boats and Casual Cradles" 317

LOOK BACK IN LAUGHTER

21. James Kincaid, "Getting It Wrong Again and Again--Me and Martin Chuzzlewit" 335

ON CONTRIBUTORS 347