Southern Writers at Century’s End

Jeffrey J. Folks & James A. Perkins
Editors
Contents

Acknowledgments vii
Foreword JAMES H. JUSTUS xi
Introduction JEFFREY J. FOLKS AND JAMES A. PERKINS 1

Part I. New Faces

Randall Garrett Kenan: Myth and Reality in Tims Creek
DORIS BETTS 9

Mary Hood: The Dark Side of the Moon
DAVID AIKEN 21

James Wilcox: The Normality of Madness
HUGH RUPPERSBURG 32

John Grisham: Obsessive Imagery
RANDOLPH PAUL RUNYON 44

James Lee Burke: “. . : always the first inning”
WILLIAM BEDFORD CLARK AND CHARLENE KERNE CLARK 60

T.R. Pearson: Debtable Heroes
MARY BOZEMAN HODGES 70

Tim McLaurin: Keeper of the Moon
SUE LASLIE KIMBALL 82

CARROLL VIERA 89

Robert Drake: The Railroad as Metaphor
JAMES A. PERKINS 104

Kaye Gibbons: Her Full-Time Women
NANCY LEWIS 112
Part II. Old Friends

Barry Hannah: Geronimo Rex in Retrospect
  David Madden 125

Anne Tyler: Wrestling with the “lowlier angel”
  James Grove 134

Bobbie Ann Mason: Searching for Home
  Albert E. Wilhelm 151

Cormac McCarthy: Restless Seekers
  John G. Cawelti 164

Alice Walker: The Color Purple as Allegory
  Winifred Morgan 177

Fred Chappell: Midquestions
  Randolph Paul Runyon 185

Josephine Humphreys: “Hope’s last stand”
  Elizabeth A. Ford 201

Richard Ford: Postmodern Cowboys
  Jeffrey J. Folks 212

Andre Dubus: “Never Truly Members”
  Lucy Ferriss 226

Clyde Edgerton: Death and Dying
  James A. Grimshaw Jr. 238

Lee Smith: Ivy Rowe as Woman and Artist
  Elizabeth Pell Broadwell 247

Works Cited 262
Contributors 273
Index 276