Feminism and Composition Studies
In Other Words

Edited by
Susan C. Jarratt and
Lynn Worsham

The Modern Language Association of America
New York 1998
Contents

Preface to the Series xi

Acknowledgments xiii

Introduction: As We Were Saying... 1
Susan C. Jarratt

PART I: Feminisms for Composition

The Reproduction of Othering 21
Laura Brady

“When and Where I Enter”: Race, Gender, and Composition Studies 45
Shirley Wilson Logan

Interrupting Our Way to Agency: Feminist Cultural Studies and Composition 58
Nedra Reynolds

The Costs of Caring: “Feminism” and Contingent Women Workers in Composition Studies 74
Eileen E. Schell

Responses to Part I

Argument and Composition 94
Suzanne Clark

Critiquing the “Culture” of Feminism and Composition: Toward a Red Feminism 100
Deborah Kelsh
PART II: Specifying Locations

Let It Pass: Changing the Subject, Once Again
   Pamela L. Caughie 111

"Ye Are Witnesses": Pedagogy and the Politics of Identity
   Wendy S. Hesford 132

Equivalent Students, Equitable Classrooms
   Christy Desmet 153

Women on the Networks: Searching for E-Spaces of Their Own
   Gail E. Hawisher and Patricia Sullivan 172

Responses to Part II

The Practice of Piece-Making: Subject Positions in the Classroom
   Ellen M. Gil-Gomez 198

Celebrating Dis-eases of Women at Waytoofast
   Margaret Morrison 206

PART III: Exploring Discontinuities

Riding Long Coattails, Subverting Tradition: The Tricky Business of Feminists Teaching Rhetoric(s)
   Joy Ritchie and Kate Ronald 217

Reading and Writing Differences: The Problematic of Experience
   Min-Zhan Lu 239

Women and Language in the Collaborative Writing Classroom
   Gail Stygall 252

Feminist Writing Program Administration: Resisting the Bureaucrat Within
   Amy Goodburn and Carrie Shively Leverenz 276

A Feminist Critique of Writing in the Disciplines
   Harriet Malinowicz 291

Responses to Part III

Writing Back
   Lisa Ede and Andrea Lunsford 313
From Principles to Particulars (and Back)
Margaret Lindgren

After Words: A Choice of Words Remains
Lynn Worsham

Contributors

Works Cited

Index