Contents

Acknowledgments  ix

Introduction: Arguing from Social Facts  1

1 Prefects and Geometers  16

2 Judges and Astronomers  45

3 Averages and the Realism of Aggregates  67

4 Correlation and the Realism of Causes  103

5 Statistics and the State:
  France and Great Britain  147

6 Statistics and the State:
  Germany and the United States  178

7 The Part for the Whole:
  Monographs or Representative Samplings  210

8 Classifying and Encoding  236

9 Modeling and Adjusting  279

  Conclusion: Disputing the Indisputable  323

Notes  339

References  343

Index  359