CONTENTS

Acknowledgements 9

1 Wim Tigges
The Significance of Trivial Things:
Towards a Typology of Literary Epiphanies 11

2 Robert Langbaum
The Epiphanic Mode in Wordsworth and Modern Literature 37

3 C.C. Barfoot
"Milton Silent Came Down My Path":
The Epiphany of Blake's Left Foot 61

4 Thomas Dutoit
Epiphanic Reading in Ann Radcliffe's The Mysteries of Udolpho 85

5 Valeria Tinkler-Villani
"I Saw, I Felt, But I Cannot Describe":
Demonic Epiphany in Gothic Fiction 101

6 Alison Chapman
Uncanny Epiphanies in the Nineteenth-Century
Sonnet Tradition 115

7 Gene Bluestein
The Emerson-Whitman Tradition and Transcendental
Materialism 137

8 Paul Devine
Leitmotif and Epiphany:
George Moore's Evelyn Innes and The Lake 155

9 Philipp Wolf
"The Lightning Flash": Visionary Epiphanies,
Suddenness and History in the Later Work of W.B. Yeats 177
10 Christine van Boheemen-Saaf
Epiphany and Postcolonial Affect 195

11 Nigel Parke
Stifled Cries and Whispering Shoes:
Rites of Passage in the Modern Epiphany 207

12 Peter Liebregts
"A Little Light ... to Lead Back to Splendour":
Ezra Pound and Epiphany 233

13 Suzette Henke
Virginia Woolf’s To the Lighthouse:
(En)Gendering Epiphany 261

14 Carmen Concilio
Things that do Speak in Elizabeth Bowen’s The Last September 279

15 Caroline Blinder
Between the Unimagined and the Imagined:
Photographic Aesthetics and Literary Illumination in Walker Evans and James Agee’s Let Us Now Praise Famous Men 293

16 Grazia Cerulli
Theatres of Trope: White Epiphanies in
Wallace Stevens and Samuel Beckett 309

17 Sjef Houppermans
Proust and Beckett: Visions of Mourning 333

18 Martin Bidney
Failed Verticals, Fatal Horizontals, Unreachable Circles of Light: Philip Larkin’s Epiphanies 353

19 Jay Losey
“Demonic” Epiphanies: The Denial of Death in Larkin and Heaney 375

20 Garrett Stewart
Kubrick’s Odyssey as Filmic Epiphany 401