WILLIAM CARLOS WILLIAMS
AND THE LANGUAGE
OF POETRY

Edited and with a Preface by
Burton Hatlen and Demetres Tryphonopoulos

THE NATIONAL POETRY FOUNDATION
ORONO, MAINE 2002
CONTENTS

List of abbreviations vii

Preface by Burton Hatlen & Demetres Tryphonopoulos ix

William Carlos Williams and the Poetics of Ending Others
Suzanne W. Churchill 3

Inversions, Evasions, Strange Machinations of Desire:
William Carlos Williams and the Baroness Revisited
Kerry Driscoll 43

Williams on Form: Kora in Hell
Bruce Holsapple 79

William Carlos Williams Between Image and Object
Tom Orange 127

Imagine the Outside: Metaphor in William Carlos Williams
Piotr Parlej 157

Reanimated Numbers and Sounding’s Modulations in Two
Poems by William Carlos Williams
Michael Boughn 169

Rephrasing Whitman: Williams and the Visual Idiom
George W. Layng 181

Reading Paterson Book One: The Interpenetration of Metaphor and the “Gathered Spray” of Language
Mark Gorey 201

Towards a Poetry of the Present: William Carlos Williams’s
Paterson, Book Three
Brian M. McGrath 219
Matrimony of the Sign: The Idea and the Thing in William Carlos Williams’s Paterson

Shane Rhodes 243

Pounding the Concrete: Williams’s Paterson as Typographical Pastoral

Darryl Whetter 257

The Crisis of Language and Poetic Identity in Williams’s “The Desert Music”

Norman Finkelstein 273

William Carlos Williams and the New Black Poetries

Aldon Nielsen 283

A Complex Realism: Reading Spring and All as Seminal for Postmodern Poetry

Donald Wellman 297

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS 319

INDEX 321