THE CLASSIC NOVEL
From page to screen

edited by Robert Giddings and Erica Sheen

Manchester University Press
Manchester and New York
Contents

Notes on contributors  page vii

1 Introduction  Erica Sheen  1

2 ‘Where the garment gapes’: faithfulness and promiscuity in the 1995 BBC Pride and Prejudice  Erica Sheen  14

3 Pickwick Papers: beyond that place and time  Robert Giddings  31

4 Sentimentality, sex and sadism: the 1935 version of Dickens’s The Old Curiosity Shop  Jenny Dennett  54

5 ‘Beholding in a magic panorama’: television and the illustration of Middlemarch  Ian MacKillop and Alison Platt  71

6 Hardy, history and hokum  Keith Selby  93

7 A taste of the Gothic: film and television versions of Dracula  Jonathan Bignell  114

8 Times of death in Joseph Conrad’s The Secret Agent and Alfred Hitchcock’s Sabotage  Suzanne Speidel  131

9 ‘Lids tend to come off’: David Lean’s film of E. M. Forster’s A Passage to India  Neil Sinyard  147

10 Watching manners: Martin Scorsese’s The Age of Innocence, Edith Wharton’s The Age of Innocence  A. Robert Lee  163

11 Brideshead Revisited revisited: Waugh to the knife  Fred Inglis  179

12 ‘Piecing together a mirage’: adapting The English Patient for the screen  Bronwen Thomas  197

Index  233