CONTENTS

Acknowledgement .................................................. vii

1. Introduction ...................................................... 1

   JAMAL MALIK, Bonn

THEMES

2. Fakirs, Wahhabis and Others: Reciprocal Classifications and the Transformation of Intellectual Categories .................................................... 23

   MARCIA HERMANSSEN, San Diego

3. From Architecture to Archaeology:
   the “Monumentalising” of Delhi’s History in the Nineteenth Century ........................................... 49

   NARAYANI GUPTA, New Delhi

4. The roots of Anglo-Muslim co-operation and Islamic reformism in Bhopal .......................................... 65

   CLAUDIA PRECKEL, Bochum

5. The Sati debate in the Rajputana Agency ................... 79

   MONIKA HORSTMANN, Heidelberg

PERSONS

6. Orientalists, informants and critics in Benares,
   1790–1860 .................................................... 97

   CHRISTOPHER BAYLY, Cambridge

7. Muslim Saints, Faquirs, and Pilgrims in 1831 according.
   to Garcin de Tassy ........................................... 128

   MARC GABORIEAU, Paris

8. Autoethnographic Representations by Asians in Late
   Eighteenth Century British Society ......................... 157

   MICHAEL FISHER, Oberlin

9. Reciprocities and divergences concerning religious traditions in two families of scholars in North India .... 188

   AVRIL A. POWELL, London
CONTENTS

TEXTS

10. Negotiating Identities: People, Culture and Politics in an Eighteenth Century Indo-Persian Text .................. 228
   MUZAFFAR ALAM and SEEMA ALAVI, New Delhi

11. Qiran al-Sa‘âdain: The Dialogue between Eastern and Western Learning at the Delhi College .................. 260
   GAIL MINAULT, Austin/Texas

   IQBAL GHANI KHAN, Aligarh

   MUHAMMAD KHALID MASUD, Islamabad

14. Encounter and Appropriation in the Context of Modern South Asian History .......................... 315
   JAMAL MALIK, Bonn

List of Contributors ................................................. 333
Bibliography ......................................................... 336
Index of Persons ................................................... 351
Subject Index ......................................................... 356