Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

Henry Tuckerman on John and William Bartram (1864) 20
James Russell Lowell on Henry David Thoreau (1865) 26
John Burroughs on Walt Whitman, Gilbert White, and Henry David
Thoreau (1867, 1902, and 1919) 33
William Benjamin Carpenter on Science's Representation of Nature (1872) 48
Alfred Austin on the Poetic Interpretation of Nature (1877) 53
Richard Jefferies on the Shortcomings of Language (1887) 70
Hamilton Wright Mabie on Hebrew Poetry, John Burroughs, and Nature's Record in Language (1891 and 1897) 78
Selden Whitcomb on Nature in Early American Literature (1893) 87
Mary Woolley on the Love of Romantic Scenery in America (1897) 101
Exchanges from the “Nature Faker” Controversy (1902–1907) 113
Charles G. D. Roberts on the Evolution of the Animal Story (1902) 148
Mabel Osgood Wright on Nature, Gender, Outdoor Life, and Fiction (1903 and 1905) 154
Fannie Eckstorm on Thoreau’s The Maine Woods (1908) 163
Havelock Ellis on the Psychological Roots of the Love of Wilderness (1909) 173
Dallas Lore Sharp on Sincerity in Nature Writing (1911) 195
Norman Foerster on Nature Cultists and American Literature (1912 and 1923) 208
Aldo Leopold on Forestry and the Hebrew Bible (1920) 228
D. H. Lawrence on Hector St. Jean de Crévecoeur (1923) 237
Lewis Mumford on Thoreau, Nature, and Society (1926) 249
Henry Chester Traîy on Women Nature Writers (1930) 257
Mary Hunter Austin on Literature and the Regional Environment (1932) 261
Mark Van Doren on Donald Culross Peattie (1937) 272
Donald Culross Peattie on Thoreau, Science, and Nature (1938) 278
F. O. Matthiessen on the Organic Style of Emerson and Thoreau (1941) 283
D. S. Savage on Nature and Immediacy in Poetry (1942) 294
Joseph Wood Krutch on the Intellectual History of Nature Writing (1950) 302
Perry Miller on Nature and American Nationalism (1955) 314
Leo Marx on the Pastoral in American Literature (1964) 341
Sources of Selections 353
Annotated Bibliography of Early Ecocriticism 355
Index 365