CONTENTS

Author's Acknowledgements viii
Publisher's Acknowledgements x

Introduction 1
Rebecca Stott and Peter Chapman

How to use this book 4

1 Making sense of sentences 5
Rebecca Stott and Peter Chapman

Recognising grammatical structures 5
The grammar of sentences 11
The four kinds of sentence construction 21
Language in use: the functions of co-ordination and subordination 24
Sentence types and communication 26
Summary 30

2 The anatomy of the clause 31
Rebecca Stott and Peter Chapman

The structure of clauses 32
Inside the clause: the verb element 36
Inside the clause: the subject element 44
Inside the clause: the adverbial 46
Inside the clause: the direct object 51
Inside the clause: the indirect object 53
Inside the clause: the subject complement 53
Inside the clause: the object complement 55
More dependent clauses 56
Summary 60

3 Word grammar 61
Rebecca Stott and Peter Chapman

Word functions 61
Open word classes: the noun 64
Open word classes: the adjective 66
Open word classes: the verb 71
Open word classes: the adverb 73
Closed word classes 75
Closed word classes: the conjunction 76
Closed word classes: the pronoun 77
Closed word classes: the preposition 78
Closed word classes: the determiner 79
Word classes: an overview 79
Summary 81

4 Phrase grammar 82
Rebecca Stott and Peter Chapman

Word classes and phrase classes 82
Noun phrases 86
Adjectival phrases 90
Verb phrases 91
Adverbial phrases 94
Prepositional phrases 94
Unravelling syntax 97
Summary 101

5 Punctuation 103
Rebecca Stott and Peter Chapman

The semi-colon 107
The comma 112
The colon 117
The double dash and the single dash 117
The apostrophe 118
Rules and conventions 120
Summary 122

6 Structures beyond the sentence 124
Rebecca Stott and Kim Landers
Genre and text structure 125
What is a paragraph? 127
What is coherence? 128
What is cohesion and how does it work? 132
Connective words and phrases 134
Topic sentences 137
Summary 140

7 Grammar and style 141
Val Scullion
Passage 1: Great Expectations by Charles Dickens 142
Passage 2: Middlemarch by George Eliot 145
Passage 3: The Waves by Virginia Woolf 147
Passage 4: A Maggot by John Fowles 150
Passage 5: Under Milk Wood by Dylan Thomas 152
Passage 6: 'The Colonel' by Carolyn Forché 155
Summary 158

Trouble-shooting 160
Glossary 173
Further reading 178
Index 179