Contents

Acknowledgements  xiii
Abbreviations  xv
Introduction  xix

Part I: Elizabeth Barrett 1806–46

‘Glimpses Into My Own Literary Character’
Elizabeth Barrett
Religious Imagination
Elizabeth Barrett
More ‘Glimpses’
Elizabeth Barrett
‘Happy influences’
Anne Thackeray Ritchie
‘Dearest Papa would be sorry to think how much he grieved me’
Elizabeth Barrett
‘My first acquaintance with Elizabeth Barrett’
Mary Russell Mitford
‘The fatal event which saddened her bloom of youth’
Mary Russell Mitford
Miss Barrett at Thirty-Five
Mary Russell Mitford
‘The duties belonging to my femineity’
Elizabeth Barrett
On Poetry I: ‘the object of the intellectual part of me’
Elizabeth Barrett
On Poetry II: ‘I want to write a new poem of a new class’
Elizabeth Barrett
On Poetry III: ‘relations ... higher than the naked eye of the cold reasoning intellect can discern at all’
Elizabeth Barrett
‘I look everywhere for grandmothers and see none’
Elizabeth Barrett
Mr Browning's Poetry: 'A palpable power'
Elizabeth Barrett 18

'I was as a man dying who had not read Shakespeare'
Elizabeth Barrett 19

'I was repulsed too often'
Elizabeth Barrett 21

Part II: Robert Browning 1812–46

Childhood Memories
Alexandra Orr 27

The Poet's History
Robert Browning 30

Music
Robert Sidney 32

An Unpoetical Nose
Sarah Flower 33

'Robert talks immensely'
Katie Bromley 33

'Lemon-coloured kid-gloves and such things'
Eliza Bridell-Fox 34

'Long ringlets and no neck-cloth'
Mary Russell Mitford 35

Browning's 'lion-like ruff'
William Harrison Ainsworth 35

Browning and Thomas Carlyle
William Allingham 36

'Little Paracelsus Browning'
Thomas Carlyle 37

Browning and Jane Carlyle
Alexandra Orr 38

Browning, Macready and Forster I: Strafford
William Charles Macready 38

Pippa Passes
Alexandra Orr 44

Browning, Macready and Forster II: The Return of the Druses
William Charles Macready 44

Browning, Macready and Forster III: A Blot on the 'Scutcheon
William Charles Macready 45

'Conversation ... as remarkably good as his books'
Joseph Arnould 47
Part III: The Brownings 1846–61

Marriage
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 51
The Journey to Italy
Anna Brownell Jameson 53
The Brownings, 1847
George Stillman Hillard 57
Story's First Impression of the Brownings
William Wetmore Story 59
Casa Guidi
Kate Field 60
Florence
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 61
Browning and the Anglo-Florentines
Thomas Adolphus Trollope 61
'Better than any poem'
Henriette Corkran 62
Recollections of Mrs Browning
Eliza Ogilvy 63
The Brownings: a Child's View
Henriette Corkran 67
Browning and his Beard
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 69
'A countenance of April shine and shower'
William Michael Rossetti 69
'A face corresponding with delicate exactness to the tone of her poems'
William Michael Rossetti 70
Browning Portraits
William Michael Rossetti 71
'I'll fling you down the stairs': Browning and Mr Sludge
William Allingham 72
Tennyson and Browning perform
William Michael Rossetti 73
'This generous humility of nature'
Anne Thackeray Ritchie 74
Browning at Bellosguardo
Frances Power Cobbe 76
Elizabeth Barrett Browning's Conversation
Kate Field 78
Browning's 'celerity' ... or immediateness'
William Michael Rossetti 78
The Brownings, 1850
Charles Eliot Norton 80
'What Mignon might be in maturity and maternity'
Sara Coleridge 81
'The delight of the encounter'
Bayard Taylor 81
'She talks no commonplaces'
Ellen Twisleton 83
'We mustn't leave the great Elizabeth alone in such a state'
Elizabeth Kinney 84
A Retrograde Step for Women
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 86
'Our close, stifling, corrupt system'
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 87
'A noble devotion to and faith in the regeneration of Italy'
Kate Field 87
The 'logical and common-sensible' poet and the 'good and kind fairy'
Nathaniel Hawthorne 90
Spiritualism: 'Mrs Browning kept trying to stem his flow of eager, funny talk'
Sophia Hawthorne 92
'The corruption of our society requires not shut doors and windows, but light and air'
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 93
'All poetry being a putting the infinite within the finite':
Men and Women
Robert Browning 94
Writing Aurora Leigh
Alexandra Orr 95
With Landor at Siena
Edith Peruzzi de' Medici 95
Rome in 1853–4: 'They did not come back with the usual impressions'
Walter Cassels 97
Rome in 1859: 'plenty of distraction, and no Men and Women'
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 97
Browning in 1861: 'the brain stratifies and matures creatively, even in the pauses of the pen'
Elizabeth Barrett Browning 98
'She has genius; I am only a painstaking fellow'
Alexandra Orr 100

The Death and Funeral of Elizabeth Barrett Browning
William Wetmore Story 101

Part IV: Robert Browning 1861–89

Browning's Return to London
Henry James 107

'No man was ever more free from bardic pose'
Rudolf Chambers Lehmann 108

Browning and Forster: 'I will pitch this bottle of claret at your head'
Rudolf Chambers Lehmann 109

Browning's Conversation in 1872: port, a pun and financial matters
Cornelia Crosse 111

'Browning's talk had not much intellectual resemblance to his poetry'
Sidney Colvin 112

Browning at King Lear
Sidney Colvin 113

'A constant flow of anecdotes and social allusions'
W. H. Mallock 113

Tennyson and Browning
Hallam Tennyson 114

'He talks everybody down with his dreadful voice'
Mary Gladstone 116

Exerting himself 'for the amusement of his fellow-guests at a dinner-table'
Alexandra Orr 117

The Companiable Sage
Anne Thackeray Ritchie 118

'An exception to his broad liberal principles'
Rudolf Lehmann 119

'An enviably happy man'
William Michael Rossetti 119

'On some of the great subjects ... he scarcely seemed to have thought at all'
Robert Buchanan 120

Browning's 'loathing and contempt for poor Walt'
Robert Buchanan 122
'The pretty nothings, the subtle flatteries of the poet's talk'
Lilian Aldrich 123

'He was a rich banker, he was a perfected butler'
Julian Hawthorne 123

Encounters with Browning
Henriette Corkran 125

Browning at Home
William Grove 127

'As far a dandy as a sensible man can be'
The World 130

'Browning and his Lady Admirers'
'An American correspondent'
Impromptus and a Reading
Felix Moscheles 132

At the Desk
Felix Moscheles 133

'His skill in fence was very great'
Frederick James Furnivall 134

Showing the Old Yellow Book
Hiram Corson 136

'I've forgotten my own verses': Browning's 'marvellous
memory' and its 'funny failure'
George Henry Boughton 137

'A wise and reflective man guides himself aright'
John Churton Collins 139

Personalia
Edmund Gosse 143

'Browning in Venice'
Katharine de Kay Bronson 147

'Browning in Asolo'
Katharine de Kay Bronson 151

'Never say of me that I am dead'
William Sharp 159

'One who never turned his back but marched breast forward'
Sarianna Browning 159

Death and Funeral
Alexandra Orr 160

Chronology 165

Index 167