The Mixed Legacy of Charlotte Perkins Gilman

Edited by Catherine J. Golden and Joanna Schneider Zangrando

Newark: University of Delaware Press
London: Associated University Presses
Contents

Preface
CATHERINE J. GOLDEN and JOANNA SCHNEIDER ZANGRANDO
Introduction
CATHERINE J. GOLDEN and JOANNA SCHNEIDER ZANGRANDO

Part I: Five Ways of Looking at Charlotte Perkins Gilman

What My Therapist, My Daughter, and Charlotte Taught Me While I Was Writing the Biography of Charlotte Perkins Gilman
ANN J. LANE
The Economic Conundrum in the Lifewriting of Charlotte Perkins Gilman
JOANNE B. KARPINSKI
"Letters Are Like Morning Prayers": The Private Work of Charlotte Perkins Gilman
MARY A. HILL
On Editing Gilman's Diaries
DENISE D. KNIGHT
Historicizing Gilman: A Bibliographer's View
GARY SCHARNHORST

Part II: Gilman's Literary Career and Her Contemporaries

"When the songs are over and sung": Gilman's Childhood Writings and Writings for Children
JILL RUDD
"Dreaming Always of Lovely Things Beyond": Living Toward Herland, Experiential Foregrounding
CAROL F. KESSLER
Rewriting the West Cure: Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Owen Wister, and the Sexual Politics of Neurasthenia
JENNIFER S. TUTTLE
Caging the Beast: The Radical Treatment for “Excessive Maleness” in Gilman’s Fiction 122
CATHERINE J. GOLDEN

Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Edith Wharton, and the Divided Heritage of American Literary Feminism 135
FREDERICK WEGENER

CHARLOTTE MARGOLIS GOODMAN

Part III: Re-Envisioning “The Yellow Wall-Paper”

Overwriting Decadence: Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Oscar Wilde, and the Feminization of Art in “The Yellow Wall-Paper” 175
ANN HEILMANN

“[A] kind of ‘debased Romanesque’ with delirium tremens”: Late-Victorian Wall Coverings and Charlotte Perkins Gilman’s “The Yellow Wall-Paper” 189
HEATHER KIRK THOMAS

Part IV: Late Gilman: The Mixed Legacy

Reading Gilman in the Twenty-First Century 209
SHELLEY FISHER FISHKIN

Select Bibliography 221
Contributors 223
Index 227