CONTENTS

Abbreviations viii
Preface ix
Lynne Grundy (1957-1997) xi
Lynne Grundy: An Appreciation Harold Short xiii
Ælfric’s Grammatical Theology and Theological Grammar Lynne Grundy 1-14
Upwita/Philosophus Revisited: A Reflection on OE Usage Janet Bately 15-36
Ælfric’s Adaptation of the Book of Esther: A Source of Some Confusion Stewart Brookes 37-64
Ælfric and Æthelred Mary Clayton 65-88
Betrothal and Marriage, Invasion and Conquest Julie Coleman 89-115
Exeter’s Relics, Exeter’s Books Patrick W. Conner 117-156
Naming and Shaming in The Book of Margery Kempe Janet M. Cowen 157-179
Generic Adaptation in Andreas Ivan Herbison 181-211
Ælfric and Wulfstan: Two Views of the Millennium

Joyce Hill

Linguistic Peculiarities in Late Copies of Ælfric and their Editorial Implications

Susan Irvine

Ælfric and the ‘Uita Patrum’ in Catholic Homily I.36

Peter Jackson

Metaphors We Lived By: Pathways Between Old and Modern English

Christian J. Kay

Conversion in Old English Saints’ Lives

Hugh Magennis

Power and Authority at the Court of Alfred

Janet L. Nelson

The Annunciation of the Lord and his Passion: A Liturgical Topos from St Peter’s on the Vatican in The Dream of the Rood,

Thomas Cranmer and John Donne

Éamonn Ó Carragáin

‘Nis nawer nan so wis mon pat me ne mai biswiken’: Treachery in Lajamon’s Brut

Lucy Perry

Some Anglo-Saxon Charms

Edward Pettit

OE to eME: Looking Forward from the Thesaurus of Old English

Jane Roberts
The Anglo-Saxons and the Shape of the World
Gopa Roy 455-481

Old English References to the Saracens
Katharine Scarfe Beckett 483-509

An Unpublished Vernacular Exhortation from Post-Conquest England and its Manuscript Context
Donald Scragg 511-524

HWÆT
E.G. Stanley 525-556

Towards a Middle English Thesaurus
Louise Sylvester 557-569

Ælfric and the Problem of Women
Paul E. Szarmach 571-590