Aims and Scope

The book series World Forests is intended for a wide range of readers as follows: national and international bodies that are concerned with forest and related policy issues, the academia - students, teachers and researchers - as well as business professionals, non-governmental organisations, the media and interested citizens worldwide. The purpose of the series is to publish research-based reviews of globally relevant issues on the interrelations of forests, society and environment from an independent and non-governmental point of view.

The volumes to be published in the series will be both multidisciplined with a broad range of coverage and more focused in-depth analyses of a particular issue in the forest sector. Globalization processes and comparative analyses of regions and countries are among themes to be covered. The volumes may be based on specific globally relevant research by internationally well-known scientists, or they may result from symposia and conferences. International scientific standards will be followed. Therefore, for example, all published material will go through a peer review process.
