Elayne Coakes, Dianne Willis and Steve Clarke (Eds)

Knowledge Management in the SocioTechnical World

The Graffiti Continues

With 46 Figures

Springer
Contents

List of Contributors ......................................................... vii

1 Introduction
   Elayne Coakes, Dianne Willis and Steve Clarke ......................... 1

2 Knowledge Management: A Sociotechnical Perspective
   Elayne Coakes .......................................................... 4

Part 1 Know-Why ......................................................... 15

3 The Knowledge Management Spectrum: The Human Factor
   Derek Binney ............................................................ 17

4 Organisational Ability: Constituents and Congruencies
   Göran Goldkuhl and Ewa Braf ......................................... 30

5 Managing Knowledge in a Knowledge Business
   Vicki Scholtz .......................................................... 43

6 Knowledge Dynamics in Organisations
   Yougjin Yoo and Christian Ifvarsson .................................. 52

Part 2 Know-What ......................................................... 65

7 Personality Type and the Development of Knowledge Evolution
   Nigel Phillips and Keith Patrick ....................................... 67

8 The Importance of Individual Knowledge in Developing the Knowledge-Centric Organisation
   Jonathan D. Pemberton and George H. Stonehouse ................... 77

Part 3 Know-Who ......................................................... 91

9 Managing Customer Knowledge: A Social Construction Perspective
   Jimmy C.M. Huang and Shan L. Pan ................................... 93

10 Facilitating Learning and Knowledge Creation in Community of Practice: A Case Study in a Corporate Learning Environment
    Jessi Qing Yi .......................................................... 105
11 Information Technology and Knowledge Acquisition in Manufacturing Companies: A Scandinavian Perspective
Fredrik Ericsson and Anders Avdic ........................................... 121

Part 4 Know-How ................................................................. 137

12 Methods for Knowledge Management Strategy Formulation: A Case Study
Christine Cuthbertson and John Farrington ............................... 139

13 Knowledge Creation and Management: The Case of Fortum Engineering Ltd
Abdul Samad Kazi, Jari Puttonen, Mika Sulkusalmi, Pekka Välikangas and Matti Hannus ................................................... 153

14 Knowledge Requirement System (KRS): An Approach to Improving and Understanding Requirements
W. Al-Karaghouli, G. Fitzgerald and S. Alshawi .............................. 170

15 Managing Tacit Knowledge in Knowledge-Intensive Firms: Is There a Role for Technology?
Elayne Coakes, Gill Sugden, Steve Russell, Jason-Phillip Camilleri and Anton Bradburn ..................................................... 185

16 Conclusion
Elayne Coakes, Dianne Willis and Steve Clarke ............................. 198

References .................................................................................... 207

Index .............................................................................................. 219