South Asia in a Globalising World
A reconstructed regional geography

edited by Robert W. Bradnock and Glyn Williams
Contents

List of Figures and Tables vii
Contributors ix
Series Preface xiii
Publisher’s Acknowledgements xv
List of Abbreviations xvi

1 South Asia in a globalising world: a reconstructed regional geography  Glyn Williams and Robert W. Bradnock

Part One Environmental challenges

2 Modern farming, socio-environmental disasters and the displacement of traditional agriculture? A reassessment from Ranchi District, Jharkhand  Sarah Jewitt 19

3 Rising waters, sinking land? Environmental change and development in Bangladesh  Robert W. Bradnock and Patricia Saunders 51

4 Changing places: the roles of science and social science in the development of large-scale irrigation in South Asia  Graham P. Chapman 78

Part Two The politics of development

5 The shock of reform: the political economy of liberalisation in India  Stuart Corbridge and John Harriss 103

6 Regionalism, decentralisation and politics: state reorganisation in contemporary India  Emma Mawdsley 122

7 NGO-Government Relationships in South Asia: the case of India and Bangladesh  Vandana Desai 144
Contents

8 The Eppawela phosphate controversy in Sri Lanka: development in the context of a 'war for peace' Yolanda Foster 167

Part Three Social inequality and social change
9 Rethinking poverty in Sri Lanka Lakshman Yapa 187
10 ‘A fist is stronger than five fingers’: caste and dominance in rural north India Craig Jeffrey 205
11 Informal settlements and urban sustainability in Pakistan Arif Hasan 229
12 Urbanisation, migration and development in Bangladesh: a gender perspective Shahnaz Huq-Hussain 251
13 Conclusion: development in South Asia: ground-truthing constructions of regional change Robert W. Bradnock and Glyn Williams 270

Glossary 274
Index 277