HISPANIC ISSUES
VOLUME 29

The State of Latino Theater in the United States

LUIS A. RAMOS-GARCÍA
EDITOR
Contents

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction
U.S.-Latino Theater: Confronting the Issues
Luis A. Ramos-García xiii

1. Latino Theater in the United States:
“The Importance of Being the Other”
Beatriz J. Rizk 1

2. Still Treading Water: Recent Currents in Chicano Theater
Marcos Martínez 15

3. Re-visiting Chicana Cultural Icons: From Sor Juana to Frida
Alberto Sandoval-Sánchez and Nancy Saporta Sternbach 30

4. From El Teatro Campesino to the Gay 1990s:
Transformations and Fragments in the Evolution
in Chicano/a Latina/o Theater and Performance Art
M. Teresa Marrero 39

5. The Encounter of Two Cultures in the Play
Doña Rosita’s Jalapeño Kitchen
(Or, the Representation of Cultural Hybridity)
Eduardo Cabrera 67

6. Nostalgia in Cuban Theater across the Shores
Patricia González 79

7. Transculturation and Its Discontents:
Manuel Martín’s Union City Thanksgiving
Elsa M. Gilmore 93

8. Cuban Theater, American Stage: Before Exile
Kenya C. Dworkin y Méndez 103

9. When the Subaltern Is Politically Incorrect:
A Cultural Analysis of the Performance Art
of John Leguizamo
Gastón Adolfo Alzate 131

10. “Mirror, Mirror on the Wall”: Performing Racial and Gender Identities in Javier Cardona’s
“You Don’t Look Like”
Jossianna Arroyo 152
11. Theory, Text, and Interpretation:
Approaching José Rivera's Marisol
_Rosalina Perales_ 172

12. Opening the Shaman's Bag:
Latino Theater, Mixed Audiences, and Tourist Logic
_Tamara Underiner_ 180

Afterword
The Geopolitics of "Latino" Theater in the United States
(Schemata of Possible Criteria for a Theatrical Anthropology)
_Hernán Vidal_ 197

Contributors 211
Index 217