The Trade in Wildlife
Regulation for Conservation

Edited by Sara Oldfield
Contents

List of Acronyms and Abbreviations vii
List of Figures, Tables and Boxes x
About the Contributors xii
Acknowledgements xv
Preface by Michael Meacher xvi

Introduction xvii

PART 1  BACKGROUND

1  The nature and extent of legal and illegal trade in wildlife
  Steven Broad, Teresa Mulliken and Dyls Roe 3
2  What is the goal of regulating wildlife trade? Is regulation a good way to achieve this goal?
  Barney Dickson 23
3  Regulatory design
  Nick Sinclair-Brown 33
4  Regulation, conservation and incentives
  Brendan Moyle 41
5  Control and the Holy Grail
  Marshall Murphree 52

PART 2  SYSTEMS OF REGULATION AND ENFORCEMENT

6  Compliance and enforcement mechanisms of CITES
  Juan Carlos Vasquez 63
7  The European Community wildlife trade regulations
  David Morgan 70
8  Evolution, impact and effectiveness of domestic wildlife trade
   bans in India
  Manoj Misra 78
PART 3  CASE STUDIES

9  Regulation and protection: successes and failures in rhinoceros conservation
   Nigel Leader-Williams
   89
10  Elephant poaching and resource allocation for law enforcement
    Hugo Jachmann
    100
11  Crocodiles: legal trade snaps back
    Jon Hutton and Graeme Webb
    108
12  Regulation of the timber trade
    Sara Oldfield
    121
13  Bushmeat: traditional regulation or adaptation to market forces
    Evan Bowen-Jones
    132
14  The impact of the proposal to list devil's claw on Appendix II of CITES
    Cyril Lombard and Pierre du Plessis
    146
15  The need for a better understanding of context when applying CITES regulations: the case of an Indonesian parrot — Tanimbar corella
    Paul Jepson
    153

PART 4  LESSONS FROM ILLEGAL TRADE IN OTHER GOODS

16  Lessons from the control of the illegal trade in ozone-depleting substances, timber and fisheries
    Duncan Brack
    163
17  The controlled trade in drugs
    Dave Lowe
    179
18  Lessons from the trade in illicit antiquities
    Neil Brodie
    184

Conclusions: Looking ahead — international wildlife trade regulation and enforcement
    Rosie Cooney
    196

Index
    205