Contents

List of Plates vii
Notes on Contributors ix
Introduction 1
RON JOHNSTON and MICHAEL WILLIAMS

I. Introductory

1. British geography 1500–1900: an imprecise review 11
   DAVID N. LIVINGSTONE

2. The institutionalisation of geography as an academic discipline 45
   RON JOHNSTON

II. Environment

3. Physical geography and geography as an environmental science 93
   KEN GREGORY

4. The domestication of the earth: humans and environments in prehistoric times 137
   IAN SIMMONS

5. The creation of humanised landscapes 167
   MICHAEL WILLIAMS

6. People and the contemporary environment 213
   SALLY EDEN

III. Place

7. Place description, regional geography and area studies: the chorographic inheritance 247
   HUGH CLOUT

8. The passion of place 275
   DOREEN MASSEY and NIGEL THRIFT
Contents

IV. Space

9. Order in space: geography as a discipline in distance 303
   RON JOHNSTON

10. Global, national and local 347
    PETER J. TAYLOR

V. Geography in action

11. Geography displayed: maps and mapping 371
    ROGER KAIN and CATHERINE DELANO-SMITH

12. The geographical underpinning of society and its radical transformation 429
    DAVID RHIND

13. Geography applied 463
    ROBERT J. BENNETT and ALAN G. WILSON

VI. Geography moving forwards

14. Geographers and environmental change 505
    JOHN B. THORNES

15. The geography of disease distributions 521
    ANDREW CLIFF and PETER HAGGETT

16. Geographers and the urban century 545
    PETER HALL

17. Geographers and the fragmented city 563
    CERI PEACH

18. Geographers and the regional problem 583
    RAY HUDSON

19. Geographers and sexual difference: feminist contributions 603
    LINDA MCDOWELL

20. Geographers, ethics and social concern 625
    DAVID M. SMITH

Index 643