Tenured Bosses and Disposable Teachers

Writing Instruction in the Managed University

Edited by
Marc Bousquet
Tony Scott
Leo Parascondola

With a Foreword by
Randy Martin

Southern Illinois University Press • Carbondale
CONTENTS

Foreword ix
   Randy Martin

Introduction: Does a “Good Job Market in Composition” Help Composition Labor? 1
   Marc Bousquet

PART ONE. DISCIPLINARITY AND CAPITALIST IDEOLOGY

1. Composition as Management Science 11
   Marc Bousquet

2. Citizenship and Literacy Work: Thoughts Without a Conclusion 36
   Richard Ohmann

3. The Managerial Unconscious of Composition Studies 46
   Donna Strickland

4. Global Capitalism, Scientific Management, and Disciplinary English 57
   David B. Downing

5. From Adelphi to Enron—and Back 72
   Paul Lauter

PART TWO. PUTTING LABOR FIRST

6. Making a Place for Labor: Composition and Unions 83
   Bill Hendricks
7. Toward a New Labor Movement in Higher Education: Contingent Labor and Organizing for Change
   Eileen E. Schell 100

8. Teaching Writing in a Managed Environment
   Eric Marshall 111

9. The Role of Writing Programs in Labor Relations
   Steve Parks 122

10. When Critical Pedagogy Becomes Bad Teaching: Blunders in Adjunct Review
    William H. Thelin and Leann Bertoncini 132

11. The Politics and Economics of the Super-Exploitation of Adjuncts
    Ruth Kiefson 143

PART THREE. CRITIQUES OF MANAGERIALISM

12. Managing Labor and Literacy in the Future of Composition Studies
    Tony Scott 153

13. I Was an Adjunct Administrator
    William Vaughn 165

    Amanda Godley and Jennifer Seibel Trainor 171

15. Bureaucratic Essentialism and the Corporatization of Composition
    Christopher Carter 186

16. Composition and the Future of Contingency: Labor and Identity in Composition
    Walter Jacobsohn 193

17. The Lure of “Easy” Psychic Income
    Katherine V. Wills 201

PART FOUR. PEDAGOGY AND POSSIBILITY

18. “Write-to-Earn”: College Writing and Management Discourse
    Leo Parascondola 209
Contents

19. The Future of English Departments: Cultural Capital and Professional Writing
   Ray Watkins
   220

20. The Righting of Writing
   Robin Truth Goodman
   231

21. Knowledge Work, Teaching Work, and Doing Composition
   Christopher Ferry
   242

22. Composition, Culture Studies, and Critical Pedagogy in the Managed University
   Donald Lazere
   250

Afterword: Educating for Literacy, Working for Dignity
   Gary Rhoades
   256

Works Cited
   273
Contributors
   287
Index
   293