Contents

Acknowledgments vii
List of Contributors ix

PART 1 INTRODUCTION

Chapter One
Mayor-centrism in Context 3
Jeffrey R. Henig and Wilbur C. Rich

PART 2 CASE STUDIES

Chapter Two
Baltimore: The Limits of Mayoral Control 27
Marion Orr

Chapter Three
Chicago: The National “Model” Reexamined 59
Dorothy Shipps

Chapter Four
Boston: Agenda Setting and School Reform in a Mayor-centric System 96
John Portz

Chapter Five
Detroit: “There Is Still a Long Road to Travel, and Success Is Far from Assured.” 120
Jeffrey Mirel

Chapter Six
Cleveland: Takeovers and Makeovers Are Not the Same 159
Wilbur C. Rich and Stefanie Chambers

Chapter Seven
Washington, D.C.: Race, Issue Definition, and School Board Restructuring 191
Jeffrey R. Henig

PART 3 THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES

Chapter Eight
Structure, Politics, and Policy: The Logic of Mayoral Control 221
Kenneth J. Meier
Chapter Nine
Mayors and the Challenge of Modernization
   Clarence N. Stone

Chapter Ten
Concluding Observations: Governance Structure as a Tool, Not a Solution
   Jeffrey R. Henig and Wilbur C. Rich

Index